British Troops Make Further Gains--Hold Now Glencorse Wood

In Centre And On Left, Armies Attain Whole Of Objectives--Stiff Fighting Continues On Right For Possession Of High Ground Astride Ypres-Menin Road--Some Progress Made--After Their Bloody Defeat In Morning Germans Make No New Attempt On The French Positions.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)

LONDON, Aug. 10.—The official communication issued tonight from British Headquarters announces that the British troops have made further gains on the battlefield east of the Belgian town of Ypres. The communication says that heavy casualties were inflicted on the enemy during fierce fighting for possession of advantageous positions. The text follows:

"Our attack this morning east of Ypres was delivered on a front of nearly two miles south of the Ypres-Roulers railway. On the right wing of the attack, heavy fighting occurred for the high ground astride the Ypres-Menin road. Some progress was made by our troops in this area and the fighting continues.

"In the centre and on the left our attack, after overcoming the enemy's resistance, resulting in our gaining the whole of our objectives. In addition to West Hoek and West Hoek Ridge, which are now completely in our hands, our troops established themselves in Glencorse Wood. In the fierce fighting that occurred heavy casualties were inflicted on the enemy. We took 240 prisoners.

Other Captures

"In addition to the foregoing number of prisoners, we captured in successful raids last night east of Monchy-Le-Feuilleux 86 of the enemy.

"The enemy raided one of our posts southeast of Guenappe and two of our men are missing. Another hostile attack was repulsed northeast of Gouvaucourt.

"There was great activity in the air yesterday, but strong westerly winds and thick clouds made it difficult for our airplanes to engage the enemy's machines. We successfully carried out bombing and artillery observation work during the day.

"In air fighting five German machines were brought down and five others driven down out of control. In addition two German observation balloons were brought down in flames and four others were driven down badly damaged.

"Violent Artillery Fighting. PARIS, Aug. 10.—The war office communication issued this evening says:

"To the north of St. Quentin both armies displayed continued activity. In the region of Fayet at 3 o'clock this afternoon two enemy attacks on the French positions were repulsed. The enemy was repulsed on the Menche Hill and the Cepy Farm were stopped by our fire.

"Violent artillery fighting took place on the front of the Pantheon and Epine de Chevreign. The enemy after his bloody defeat this morning made no new attempt. Prisoners declared the attack had been prepared most carefully to retake the trenches captured by us on July 26.

"Besides three battalions already mentioned, the troops used by the enemy included nine detachments of special storming troops and two detachments of flamethrowers. We made in the course of this action more than 100 prisoners.

"Attacks Break Down. "In Champagne the Germans attacked our trenches to the east of Maisons de Champagne. On the two wings all the attacks broke down unaided. In the centre where the assaulting force was able to gain a footing very spirited fighting took place which ended to our advantage. Our line is re-established in its entirety.

"On both banks of the Meuse a violent artillery action took place in the region of Hill 304, Le Mort Homme, and on the Besonvaux sector.

"Belgian communication: 'During the day of the 9th and the following night the German army was especially active in the region of Houthem. On the evening of the 9th our artillery brought down a German airplane. Today we carried out numerous artillery bombardments with a view to destroying enemy batteries or to find their range.'

SAMPLE GRAIN MARKETS TO BE ESTABLISHED

At Fort William And Winnipeg On September 1.

"LAY-OVER" QUESTION LEFT IN ABEYANCE

Deferred Until Conditions Justify Action By Railway Board.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire) OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 10.—The following official statement has been handed out by the Department of Trade and Commerce, regarding sample markets to be established:

"As intimated by a letter from the minister, written to the railway companies and the grain exchanges on April 18 last, and confirmed in a letter of July 16, sample markets will be established on September 1. For the present, sample trading will be provided for at Fort William and Winnipeg. The rules and regulations therefor are now being prepared by the board of grain commissioners and will be discussed with the exchanges at Fort William and Winnipeg.

War Delayed Action

"As far back as 1913, the board of grain commissioners had recommended the establishment of such markets in Canada and an order in council was passed approving and authorizing their establishment. It was proposed to inaugurate sample trading on September 1 of the year. The financial situation at that period rendered it advisable to postpone the date set. Then the war ensued and further delay was necessary.

"Meanwhile the sentiment in favor of sample market trading continued to grow and the demand on the part of the western farmers became pronounced. Some months ago delegations from Winnipeg visited Ottawa and discussed very fully the question of sample markets and the board of grain commissioners, who have always occupied an anomalous position with regard to the grain acts and the general system of railway rates, have been able to bring the matter to a head.

"In June last a meeting was held at Winnipeg at which representatives of the western municipalities, farmers' societies and of the Winnipeg grain exchange, met the board of grain commissioners and thoroughly discussed both the establishment of the sample market and the rules and regulations which might be made applicable thereto. The opinion of this conference was predominantly in favor of the establishment of the sample market.

Relayways Protest

"A strong protest of the railway companies was made at that meeting on the ground that any 'lay over' at Winnipeg or other points would seriously affect transport conditions, and that it was against general interests to make any change at present which would have that effect and also that the railway companies could not provide at present the extra trackage and equipment required if such 'lay over' were made necessary.

"It was then suggested that to avoid this, the sample market should be established at Fort William, whose geographical and strategic position promised the minimum disturbances of railway transport. To this the Winnipeg exchange dissented and a deputation came to Ottawa and has had repeated conferences with the board of grain commissioners, who are now endeavoring to bring the matter to a head.

"This deputation took the ground that sample markets should not be established during the war.

Go Into Effect

"After the consideration of all the representations made and the information at hand the board of grain commissioners have recommended and the minister has approved that sample markets should go into effect at Fort William and Winnipeg on September 1, but that no 'lay-over' shall be ordered at either point during the present crop year until the opinion of the board of railway commissioners, traffic conditions will justify the same.

"The absence of an order point will to that extent militate against the complete operation of the sample market so far as the Winnipeg and Fort William exchanges are concerned, but will not prevent to any appreciable degree the benefits which will accrue to the farmers from its establishment. From September 1 the farmers will know that their grain will have the advantage of being delivered on the boards and disposed of on its merits and quality, and they will benefit from the competition of buyers and the narrowing of spreads that so far have hampered greatly the advantage of the dealers and exporters."

BRITISH LABOR SHARPLY SPLIT ON CONFERENCE

Strong Opposition Of Firemen's And Seamen's Union.

CHANGE OF POLICY LAST FEW WEEKS

Supporters Say Mistake To Leave Russians Alone.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire) LONDON, Aug. 10.—The conference of the British labor party held at Westminster today voted to send delegates to the Stockholm consultative conference, by a vote of 1,046,000 to 560,000, after an amendment by the dock workers opposing it had been defeated by a vote of 91,000 to 1,551,000.

When the vote on the resolution was announced a delegate, accused of being a spy, was thrown out of the hall. The firemen's and seamen's union would see to it that the delegates would never reach Stockholm.

Supporters Dockers

G. N. Barnes, minister of pensions, spoke in favor of the dock workers' attitude against attending a conference at which delegates from enemy countries would be present, saying that the United States, Belgium, France and Italy were not sending delegates and that if delegates from Great Britain were sent they would be negotiating with the enemy.

He added that the difference between a mandatory and a consultative conference was small, and that the British delegates would be in the same position whatever their final character. He asked if the conference at the present time was peace, and was answered by thunderous cries of "No" and "No."

George Henry Roberts, M.P., made a strong fighting speech against delegates going to Stockholm. He said he declined to meet Germany during the war. He thought that the Russian government of Premier Kerensky should not be interfered with. If the men in the labor movement were unable to serve among themselves, he added, they would only carry their confusion and disagreements into other fields and create further misunderstanding.

The chairman of the committee promised to give consideration to a suggestion made by Robert Smiley, leader of the miners, that now the resolution has been carried the executive committee should approach the American and Belgian laborers and persuade them to send delegates to Stockholm.

Reversal of Policy.

The decision of the labor party to send representatives to Stockholm is a reversal of the policy to which the party committed itself at its recent convention. The changed attitude was due to an alteration of the plans of the labor party, which the conference will be merely a consultative gathering for the presentation of the views of the different sections, instead of one for framing peace terms or a platform for the international Socialists on war questions.

Russian influence has been an important factor in the British decision. Archibald Henderson, minister without portfolio, returned from Petrograd convinced that British laborers should participate in the convention at Stockholm, and British Socialist correspondents at Petrograd were sending cablegrams stating that it would be a mistake for Russians to be left to confer with Germans and neutrals and for the voice of the British workmen not to be heard.

Henderson Spokesman.

The British majority delegates will present the British point of view on war issues at the conference and Mr. Henderson probably will be their spokesman.

There is a possibility, however, that the delegates will find difficulty in getting to Stockholm. Members of the labor party have expressed concern that the question of British participation was after all under their control. They might prevent the delegates from sailing, or they might, as happened in the case of the MacDonald party, attempt some time ago to leave the country to visit Russia and Stockholm.

WHEAT AVERAGE ABOUT 15 BUS. IN MANITOBA

Conditions Vary Greatly--From Forty To Not More Than Five.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire) WINNIPEG, Aug. 10.—Wheat will average about 15 bushels an acre in Manitoba, according to a report by the Manitoba department of agriculture. The conditions vary greatly, some districts expecting a 40 bushel yield, and others not more than five bushels.

The report states that the outlook for the barley and oat harvest is not as bright as for wheat. Potatoes will be a good crop in almost all districts. The yield of potatoes will be above the average.

Upland hay is scarce and the feed supply will be very plentiful. The northern and the eastern sections of the province have had more rain and the crops in these districts are good. In the south and west the crops are much lighter.

On the whole, the report says, conditions have improved much in the last few weeks.

Cutting wheat has begun in some places and will be general next week in a good many sections of the province.

FOOD CONTROL TO REGULATE SPREAD IN PRICES BETWEEN FISHERMEN AND CONSUMER

Order Issued Requiring All Wholesale Fish Dealers In Canada To Register--Object Is To Prevent Excessive Charges--Prices Of Fruit And Vegetables Also To Be Dealt With.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire) OTTAWA, Aug. 10.—It is the intention of the food controller that the spread between the fishermen and the consumer in the prices of fish shall, if necessary, be subject to regulation.

It was announced today that all wholesale fish dealers in Canada shall be required to register at the food controller's office, Ottawa. It is the intention of the food controller to secure returns from all houses registered, with a view to preventing excessive charges. Forms of registration will be supplied upon application to the food controller's office, Ottawa.

It is the object of the food controller to assist wholesalers in every possible way, to secure the supplies necessary for their business and to increase the demand for their products.

One of the first steps of the distribution bureau of the Canadian food controller's office will be the securing of a supply of apples for Central Canada this fall. The provision of a sufficient quantity of other fruit and vegetables at the lowest possible prices for the spring of 1918, will be the effort of the bureau later. If necessary, the food controller will establish his own depots of distribution.

The spread between prices to the producer and the consumer of vegetables in Canada will be reduced to the lowest possible minimum fair to the handlers without affecting the prices of the producer, who will be encouraged to produce a maximum quantity. The immense quantity of vegetables that have been grown this summer in the cities gives rise to the questions of preservation and storage, which are also included in the food distribution bureau's plans.

Mrs. Jean Muldrew, assistant superintendent of the Women's Institutes of the Department of Agriculture, Alberta, has been loaned by the government of the province to the food controller as expert in domestic economy. Mrs. Muldrew has already taken up her work in Ottawa, and is preparing a bulletin on canning to be distributed by the Women's Institutes in the various provinces.

Mrs. Muldrew, who is a graduate in domestic science, was for five years "house mother" in the MacDonald Institute, Guelph, and for five years lady principal of the Alberta Ladies' College at Red Deer.

D. Johnson, Dominion fruit commissioner, well known throughout Canada to those engaged in the production of fruit and vegetables, has been loaned to the food controller for Canada by the Dominion government. He will act as chief of the food distribution bureau, dealing with questions of purchase, storage, transportation, wholesale and retail sale prices and export.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire) LONDON, Aug. 10.—Russian and Roumanian troops repulsed enemy attacks in the Trotus Valley and then launched vigorous counter attacks which gained them prisoners and captured machine guns, according to an official statement issued today by the Roumanian war office. The statement follows:

"In the Trotus Valley enemy attacks were repulsed and in counter attacks Russian troops, who maintain all their positions, forced the enemy to flee in disorder after taking prisoners and machine guns.

"Between the Trotus and Putna Valleys Roumanian troops gallantly withstood a violent artillery bombardment with attacks accompanied by annihilating gas. They completely repulsed the enemy in five assaults, except at a single point in the Otus Valley.

"On the Putna and Sereth rivers Russo-Roumanian troops, attacked many times by superior numbers of the enemy inflicted heavy losses and maintained all their positions."

CROWN SHOULD PAY DAMAGES LIKE COMPANY

Discussion In House On The Intercolonial's Relation To Railway Board.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire) OTTAWA, Aug. 10.—The house spent the day in consideration of a bill to bring the intercolonial railway under the jurisdiction of the railway commission. Considerable discussion centered round the measure, which received second reading and entered committee. The question of the imposition of penalties against the crown came in for considerable debate.

W. S. Middlebrooke moved that his majority of the minister of railways should not be liable to any fine or penalty excepting such as the railway commission might impose. The motion was stood over.

H. H. Boulay, of Rimouski, moved that all employees on the intercolonial in Quebec should have a knowledge of both languages. The motion was declared out of order. Progress was reported.

The result of the convention assures the return to power of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the one man who can reconcile all races and religions in the present crisis, and who can bring a united Canada to the important task of winning the war."

Such was the increased conviction of George B. O'Connor, one of the Edmonton delegates to the recent Liberal convention at Winnipeg, who are highly pleased with the work of the convention and is very optimistic as to its effect in cementing Liberal sentiment in Western Canada and making certain the victory of the party in the western provinces in the forthcoming federal election.

"In the first place," said Mr. O'Connor, to the Bulletin last night, "it was the largest of its kind ever held in Western Canada. More than 1,000 delegates attended and some of them traveled more than 1,000 miles to be present. The convention unanimously endorsed the platform submitted."

"The most important feature of the convention was the reforms which were adopted and particularly the 'Win-the-War' resolution, by which the convention pledged the Liberal party as well to the maintenance in unimpaired strength at the front of our fighting forces and the taking of all steps necessary to secure the required reinforcements for the Canadian contingent, as to provide the necessary taxation 'to ensure that every citizen shall bear his full share of the war burden according to his means.'"

"This resolution has been happily summarized: 'We are in this war to the last man and the last cent.'"

"The convention adopted all the reforms recommended by the Dominion Council of Agriculture, which are of immediate importance. Including those relating to farm products and agricultural implements, food and many other commodities, and an increase in the British preference of 50 per cent with a view to eventual free trade with Great Britain."

"But perhaps the most important resolution was that expressing confidence in Sir Wilfrid Laurier as the leader of the Liberal party. For many weeks past Conservative newspapers have heralded a division in the Liberal ranks, and more than 30 special newspaper representations had gathered in Winnipeg for the purpose of sending throughout Canada the news of the expected division over the question of leadership."

"But the great disappointment of the Conservative workers, no such division materialized and the convention was unanimous in endorsing the resolution."

War Resolution States the Most Comprehensive War Policy So Far Promulgated

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire) WINNIPEG, Aug. 10.—Hon. A. B. Hudson, attorney-general of Manitoba, gave out the following statement tonight:

"There seems to be a great deal of confusion in the public mind about the position of many of those who took part in the Liberal convention. Being chairman of the resolutions committee I was not present in the body of the convention, and, therefore, personally know nothing about what occurred there."

"My position is that the resolutions would be read as they were written, they left the committee and were adopted by the convention without change."

"The war resolution to my mind states the most comprehensive war policy so far promulgated. It includes conscription, not merely for military service, but for all other purposes of the war, including the war—conscription of money and resources—of which I approve."

"The resolution as to Sir Wilfrid Laurier naturally expresses the opinion of Liberals for the undoubted great services which he has rendered the country; their belief that he is now doing his duty as he sees it. It recognizes the great influence which he still possesses and hopes that the influence may be utilized for the purpose of trying to govern and to lead the people in the war. It commits no one to his leadership."

"The door is still open for the formation of a truly national government and I hope that one may be formed."

STRICT ECONOMY IN BREAD CEREALS

Order Issued To The Ypres Group Of The German Armies.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire) LONDON, Aug. 10.—Reuters' correspondent at British headquarters reports that an order issued to the Ypres group of the armies of Crown Prince Rupprecht has been found which reads:

"The fact that economy in bread cereals has been taken into consideration makes it necessary to sanction an increased ration only where it is really needed. Officers are required to explain again to their subordinates the serious nature of the economic situation in Germany and give instructions that the strictest economy must be exercised with regard to all supplies. Nothing must be consumed beyond that which is really necessary and not the smallest particle must be wasted."

GENERAL AND INFANTILE DEATH RATE LOWEST FOR MANY YEARS REPORTS CITY HEALTH OFFICER

Calls Attention To Prevalence Of Children's Complaints, Especially Whooping Cough And Mumps—Complains Of Carelessness Of Parents Permitting Children When Ill To Be Abroad—Dangerous Nature Of Whooping Cough.

"It is only by securing the active cooperation of physicians and the citizens generally that a health department can hope to obtain the best results in the prevention of epidemic diseases," emphasizes the health officer, Dr. Whitelaw, in his report to the city commissioners on the work of the department for the past month. He states that there were 155 cases of infectious diseases notified to the department, these including 56 cases of whooping cough, 41 of mumps, 35 of measles and 17 of chickenpox.

Commenting on these cases he remarks that the more serious diseases continue to be very little in evidence. Measles and chickenpox were gradually subsiding, but whooping cough and mumps had become very prevalent during the month.

Many complaints have reached the department," adds the health officer, "of the carelessness of parents in allowing their children afflicted with whooping cough to come in contact with other children, thus spreading the disease. Many cases of whooping cough, as well as of mumps, have been very mild type, and as a result there can be very little in evidence. Numbers of cases of both diseases have not been reported as required by the Public Health Act."

The modified quarantine called for in such cases does not impose any hardship on those not so affected in the household, and does not interfere with their liberty to come and go. It is, therefore, unfair to those who are willing to assist in the control of these diseases, by reporting and submitting to the modified quarantine in the public interest, that there are those in the community who willfully neglect their duty in this respect, and incur impunity as to the laws of quarantine. In the early stages of whooping cough and mumps it is often difficult to make a positive diagnosis, and it is unfortunately also true that it is just at this uncertain and indefinite stage that these diseases are most infectious. Thus it is that the control of epidemic of these diseases is so difficult and apparently so inefficient, as it so often happens that the maximum of infection of others has been reached, before the disease has been recognized. Parents would be well advised to keep their children restricted to their own premises if they show the slightest indication of illness, until the nature of that illness can be ascertained. The family physician should be called in, or the case reported to the health department, when an investigation will be made, and the necessary steps taken to prevent further trouble if the condition should be found to be contagious.

Power of Prosecution
"Where evidence can be secured that infectious disease has been deliberately and wilfully concealed, the only recourse left is to prosecute the offender for failure to report such disease, as required by the Public Health Act."

Dr. Whitelaw concludes with another warning that should appeal to the careless ones. He says: "That whooping cough is a more serious affliction than generally supposed is indicated by the fact that throughout the province last year, the deaths due to whooping cough numbered 48, while diphtheria caused only 22 deaths and scarlet fever 11."

Commenting on the number of deaths for the month, which was 42, the health officer remarks that it makes the death-rate the lowest for many years in Edmonton. Also the death rate of infants under one year of age, the total being five, was the lowest for a long time.

COURT ALLOWS APPEALS FOR REDUCTION

Appeals By McNamara, Ltd., and Radial Realty Co. Are Not Successful.

Judge Crawford concluded the hearing of assessment appeals in the District Court on Friday morning, when his decisions involved some further reductions of the assessments made this year.

W. Rea, who represented J. McK. Dickson, was successful in obtaining reductions amounting in all to about $10,000. The assessment of a lot at the corner of 101st street and Gallagher was reduced from $10,000 to $3,500. Lot 13, block 20, R. L. 10, located on Nanawap, was reduced to $2,500. Two lots, No. 6 in block 12 and No. 9 in block 12, river lot 10, were reduced to $2,475 each. The assessment of lots 22 and 24, block 15, R. L. 10, was confirmed at $2,500 and $2,750 each.

As the result of the appeal of W. H. Bell, his honor reduced the assessment of lot 54, R. L. 8, from $32,000 to $20,000. Mr. Rea also appeared for the applicant in the appeal of Queen Mary Park was confirmed, the appeal of the Radial Realty Co. not being sustained.

The lots in this sub-division, which lie north of the G. T. P. shops at Calder, are assessed at $90 and $100 each.

Neither of the appeals brought by McNamara, Ltd., or the estate of Mrs. McNamara, were sustained, and the assessments were confirmed. The property consisted of twenty acres which includes the McKernan Lake. McNamara had placed his own valuation on the property when he swore to a valuation of $15,000 when a transfer was carried out to June of the present year.

PIONEER SETTLER DIES SUDDENLY

John S. Hamilton, Conjuring Creek, Passes Away After Illness of Day.

Another of the districts pioneer settlers has been suddenly removed from the community with the death of John S. Hamilton, who passed away Tuesday afternoon. His illness was only of a day or two although he had been feeling unwell at intervals during the summer.

The settler mourns in the deceased one of its best known residents. The deceased is survived by his wife and a family of five children. Mr. Hamilton was at all times interested in the social life of his community and was a presence which will be greatly missed. He was born in Markham, Ont., November 4th, 1854, removing years later to Michigan from which state he came with his parents and family to Alberta and Conjunction Creek in April 1899. On two occasions during the next few years he returned to the States, but permanently settled down here twelve years ago.

The deceased is survived by his widow and a family of five children, of whom the youngest, Floyd, has been residing at home. The second son, Hiram, with his wife, came to the district last spring from Minot, N. D., where he was for years with the Great Northern railway. With the same system at Minot he was kindly disposition. Mrs. Earl Palmatier, of Tacoma, Wash., and Mrs. D'Arcy T. Buckell of Vaughn, Wash., are daughters.

The aged mother of the deceased, Mrs. Alvin Hamilton, is still hale and hearty at 85 years. Mrs. John A. Sangster is a sister of the deceased.

The funeral will be held at the local cemetery Friday when the body will be placed at rest beside that of the father, Hiram Hamilton, who passed away twelve years ago.

PROF. EDWARDS GIVES ADDRESS ON GOOD ROADS

Shows Their Relation To Social Welfare At Final Session Of Congress

The business of the Social Leadership conference concluded Friday afternoon when W. Muir Edwards, professor of civil and municipal engineering, delivered an address on "Good Roads and Social Welfare." Prof. Edwards dealt with the engineering features of grade and surface roads, their classification, etc., urging that in Alberta attention should be given to the earth road costing $150 per mile for construction and a maintenance of $30 per mile per year, such roads being more in keeping with the local conditions and pocket of those adjacent thereto. They gave very good accommodation to the families along the way at a moderate cost.

The road from Edmonton to To-field via Cooking Lake, was cited as a good road, such costing $550 per mile with $30 per mile per year for maintenance. Use of the splitting drag which could be made for $10, was recommended. He suggested that ashes be mixed with the clay, thus preventing the hard caking; clay and sand was better still. Corduroy was only a makeshift.

In the discussion following, Mr. Marnoch suggested a graded road on one side of the allowance, the prairie trail to be left at the other, so that fast and slow traffic could be served to advantage; also the filling in of "pockets" or small hollows here and there along the ordinary graded roads with no drainage outlets.

A resolution of thanks was passed to those contributing, special mention being made of Mr. Dobson, the chairman of the committee. Considerable time was spent in a sort of conversational conference upon various topics, Hugh Dobson answering queries as in his judgment seemed best.

Resolutions
Several strongly worded resolutions were passed by the Social Service conference at the Friday morning session. The splendid service the University of Alberta was rendering the province from the social and educational standpoint were not forgotten, but attention of the Governor was called to the fact that the University of Alberta was not doing enough for the prevention of marriage of persons so afflicted.

Mental Defectives
Suggesting that the Department of Public Health should take under advisement measures for the supervision of mentally defective with a view to segregation of proven bad cases, and the provision of legislation for the prevention of marriage of persons so afflicted.

Public Health
Suggests to the Government of our province that the Department of Public Health should be established and that special attention should be devoted to the conservation of our human resources, and especially of child life.

The Feeble-Minded
Invites the attention of the Government of our province to the delay in the establishment of the farm colony for the feeble-minded at Red Deer, believing that this delay is detrimental to the well-being of our citizens generally.

Reconstruction
Suggests that the Dominion Government should establish a department of reconstruction under a Minister of the Crown to deal with problems of reconstruction after the war, to be followed by the Minister of Agriculture.

(a) The rehabilitation of our returned soldiers in civil occupation;
(b) The co-ordination of the public health, educational and social activities in our various provinces;
Among the Foreigners

Desires respectfully to invite the attention of the Government of our province to the deplorable state of our neglect of the social welfare of our non-English speaking farmers in the district northeast of Edmonton, and requests that special attention be directed thereto by the Minister of Education. The conference greatly hopes that at its meeting in 1918 we may learn that marked progress has been made in ameliorating these conditions.

Among the Indians
Desires to direct the attention of the Dominion Government to the large areas of sparsely populated and uncultivated fertile lands in the Indian reserves that lie close to railway transportation, so that the situation may now be reviewed in these respects:

(a) The estimated likely increase in population of the Indians in these respective reserves and the probabilities of their becoming further engaged in agricultural pursuits, and how far they themselves may be expected to bring these lands under cultivation;

(b) Measures for the release of portions of the reserves for beneficial use under cultivation, compensation being given to the Indians either by money consideration or by the granting of other areas of land remote from transportation, which would be equally suitable for their use as cattle and horse raisers, or otherwise;

(c) If the lands are released for farming, special attention should be directed to the claims of returned soldiers who may desire to become farmers, and particularly to returned Canadian Indian soldiers who may desire to cultivate such lands thus favorably situated for the efficient marketing of grain and other farm produce.

FUNERAL SUNDAY
The funeral of the late Mary Olive Allan will take place from the residence of her father and mother, 11409 24th street, Sunday afternoon, Aug. 12, at 2:30 p.m.

Prohibition Forces Decide to Wait Before Pressing for Dominion Wide Prohibition

A. W. Coone Returns From Ottawa, Where He Was One of Deputation to Wait Upon Federal Government—Premier Borden Asks That Prohibition Wait Until Conscription Issue is Settled and Committee Agrees.

A. W. Coone, general secretary of the Alberta Social Service league, has just returned from an extended trip in Eastern Canada. He attended the convention of the Canadian Press Association in Toronto, and has just returned from a meeting of the Dominion Prohibition committee, held in Ottawa. This convention represents the various provincial temperance and social service organizations throughout the Dominion of Canada and has been organized to deal with the question of Dominion prohibition. It had already requested the Dominion government for total prohibition as a war measure, or for a referendum upon the whole question.

A large deputation," said Mr. Coone, to the Bulletin Friday morning, "waited on the government, which was represented by Mr. Robert Borden, Sir George Foster and Hon. Mr. Doherty. Mr. Borden, speaking for the government, said that they felt at the present moment there were so many other issues that it would be unfortunate to introduce another one, that in his opinion at this moment prohibition was the principal issue, and he hoped that waiting would interfere with the progress of the committee to allow the matter to stand over and gave a promise that in the event of his being at the head of the new government, the prohibition question would receive careful consideration.

The committee presented the necessity

at this moment for food conservation and urged that the question be given serious consideration by the government and the Doherty act would be amended giving the provinces power to prohibit use of the mails for advertising liquor."

After the conference, the committee, says Mr. Coone, considered the situation and felt as a committee they would take no action in throwing the issue into the coming election. They felt that it would not help the cause of prohibition or be in the national interests to introduce another matter which might becloud conscription at the present time. It was, therefore, left to the various provincial bodies to make such representation to the candidates in their provinces as each saw fit.

It was decided to engage a permanent secretary and to open an office in the city of Ottawa and to press at the present moment the question of food conservation with the hope that in the near future there would be clear to have a Dominion-wide measure prohibiting the manufacture and importation of liquor.

Mr. Coone attended a conference of various secretaries on the question of social service work in each province which was taken up quite energetically and said that it was quite clear that Alberta and Manitoba were likely to lead in this matter, that the social workers of the east are looking to the west for direction on some of these lines.

You feel no pain or soreness when applying freezeone or afterwards. It doesn't even irritate the skin. Just ask in any drug store for a small bottle of freezeone. This will cost but a few cents but positively rid your poor, suffering feet of every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, or the tough calluses on bottom of feet. Women! Keep a tiny bottle on the dresser and never let a corn ache twice.

THE DAY'S RESULT

Is anybody happier because you passed his way?
Does anyone remember that you spoke to him today?
This day is almost over and its toiling
Is there anyone to utter now a kindly word of you?

Did you give a cheerful greeting to the friend who came along?
Or a cheerful sort of "howdy" and then vanish in the throng?
Were you selfish, pure and simple, as you rushed along this way,
Or is some one mighty grateful for a deed you did today?

Can you say tonight, in parting with the day that's slipping fast,
That you helped a single brother of the many that you passed?
You have earned one more tomorrow
Is a single heart rejoicing over what you did or said?

Does man whose hopes were fading now with courage look ahead.
Did you waste the day or lose it, was it well or poorly spent?
Did you follow a trail of kindness or a trail of discontent?
As you close your eyes in slumber do you think that God would say
You have earned one more tomorrow

"COLD PACK" PROCESS OF PRESERVING VEGETABLES FOR THE WINTER IS DESCRIBED

Method is Easy and Apparatus is at Hand—Flavor of Vegetables is Retained—Costs Less Than to Purchase Store Goods—Problem of Surplus Garden Produce is Satisfactorily Solved.

Edmonton people have been exhorted to help in the production of additional surplus garden produce by cultivating larger garden spaces, by raising vegetables on garden lots and, generally, by the more vigorous use of the hoe. How well they have responded to that appeal is evidenced by the splendid gardens which are to be seen all over the city and by the greatly increased quantity of vegetables of all sorts which have been raised.

The problem which now faces them is how to preserve the surplus crop. It is patent that there will soon be an abundance of surplus garden produce, and being of a perishable nature, some method of immediate preservation is a vital necessity.

We have heard many calls to patriotic gardeners to help in the production of additional surplus garden produce by cultivating larger garden spaces, by raising vegetables on garden lots and, generally, by the more vigorous use of the hoe. How well they have responded to that appeal is evidenced by the splendid gardens which are to be seen all over the city and by the greatly increased quantity of vegetables of all sorts which have been raised.

The "cold pack" process of preserving vegetables, although known to some housewives, is not a matter of general knowledge, as it should be. It is a simple method of preserving the surplus thus far devised. If done properly the vegetables will last indefinitely without spoiling.

The method is easy. The vegetables are packed in a jar, and then covered with a solution of salt water. The jar is then sealed and the vegetables are preserved.

Consumers' League Mass Meeting

That "Thrift will help us to win the war and the less we receive in return will help us to live when the war is over," is the belief of the Consumers' League, which has arranged a mass meeting to take place in the Douglas church, on the evening of Thursday, August 12th, to consider the important matter of food conservation. Maximum production, elimination of waste, and the consumption of perishable products in order to release storable foods for export are three immediate ways in which the food shortage may be relieved. In this country at this date production cannot be further increased until another year, but the elimination of waste and consumption of perishable products may be undertaken at once.

The government's plan for conservation of food will be laid before the people at this mass meeting, as well as the aspects of the question when considered from different standpoints. "Sacrifice, Service, Success," is the slogan for the campaign.

TODAY'S INQUIRIES

To the Editor of Woman's Page:
Dear Madam—Please publish in your valuable paper a good recipe for making sweet gherkin pickles. Yours truly,
J. M. City.

Put the gherkins in a fairly strong brine over night. To two quarts gherkins use one quart cider vinegar (if malt vinegar is used, dilute it one-third water), add a pound of sugar to a quart of gherkins, and a heaping tablespoonful of mixed spices to the quart. Put this mixture in a kettle and bring to a boil, pour over the gherkins hot and seal.

To the Editor of Woman's Page:
Dear Madam—How may a hollow in the neck be filled out, making the collar bone less prominent? Also please state how long the treatment recommended will take. Kindly answer this through your page, which I may state is considered by many a public benefactor. You are truly,
"INTERESTED," City.

That is a question that is not easily answered, and it may be that as in many cases where the hollow is very deep, the collar bone being very high, little if anything can be done. The only remedy is the exercise of throwing the head back to stretch the muscles of the neck. I am a teacher of physical culture and I would bring the flesh and muscle up level with the bones. This you would have to be very careful in doing, so as not to strain or over develop, and I would suggest consulting a teacher of physical culture or Swedish drill.

To the Editor of Woman's Page:
Dear Madam—Will you please tell me how stuffed celery is made? Of what does the filling consist and how is it arranged with regard to the celery stalks? Would it be suitable to serve along with chicken or tongue sandwiches when giving afternoon luncheon to about five or six ladies? Your paper is so helpful, and I thank you for helping me in this if you can, please.
"HIC," Wetaskiwin, Alta.

Stuffed celery is made in several ways, but the following is a very nice recipe: Take the tenderest medium sized stalks of celery and cut into lengths of about five or six inches long. The outside stalks are usually too flat to be filled nicely. These can be used for other purposes, such as in soup or creamed. The heart stalks are chopped fine and added to chopped nuts, chopped fresh apples, the yolks of hard boiled eggs, a sprinkling of chopped onion, and a dash of salt. The mixture is then packed into the stalks. A paste-like substance with mayonnaise dressing so that it packs well into the stalks. Garnish by sprinkling a few whole cloves here and there or by a fresh fruit in season, small enough. I should not think this would be suitable to serve as you mention. A tasty salad with this bread and butter, cake and tea or coffee, would be much more satisfactory.

To the Editor of Woman's Page:
Dear Madam—I have been invited to a formal luncheon and would like to know how I should dress for such an occasion?
HELEN.

A tailored suit with dressy waist may be worn and the coat removed for the luncheon, but a one-piece frock of some soft material such as crepe de chene or georgette crepe is prettier. A rather dressy hat is also worn to a luncheon and white gloves. The coat and gloves are removed before descending to the drawing room.

To the Editor of Woman's Page:
Dear Madam—Will you kindly suggest some presents which might be given for a wedding?
CHARLES.

Any kind of kitchen furnishings of wood—a washbasin, wooden grocery boxes, spoons, bowls, bread board, ironing board, any kind of furniture, chairs, tables, desk, pictures in mahogany or some other wood frames, logs of wood, barrels, cedar chests in fact, there are innumerable articles in wood, both expensive and very inexpensive, which may be purchased for such an occasion.

Substitute for Hot Irons.
To the Editor of Woman's Page:
Dear Madam—Perhaps some of your readers would like this suggestion. I have tried it and it simplifies my ironing very much. Tack a piece of white oilcloth on the wall of the kitchen, and when you wash your silk or linen handkerchiefs flatten them out, when still wet, on the oilcloth and they will be as smooth as when ironed. (Mrs.) G. O.
Thank you for your suggestion, which some of my readers may care to adopt.

Broken Yolk Cannot Be Separated.
To the Editor of Woman's Page:
Dear Madam—Can you tell me how to get the white of an egg away from the yolk when it is broken? I started to make some mayonnaise dressing and some of the white got into the yolk, and I had to waste the egg.

Once the yolk has broken it is not possible to separate it from the white. But if the yolk alone is supposed to make a better dressing, the white will not spoil it if allowed to remain in. In fact, if you add all the white it will aid in the stiffening of the dressing and will make more. If short of oil, it is a good thing to leave the white in.

Suggestive Home-made Holders.
To the Editor of Woman's Page:
Dear Madam—This would be of interest to your readers. The holders for pots and pans that I buy in the stores wear out so rapidly that I make my own now, and this is how I do it:

I take an old worn-out bathing jersey and cut several squares, the size I want my holder to be, then I place them one on top of the other till I get the desired thickness and baste them together. I then cut out two squares of cretonne—any old piece will do—and cut the pad with a machine stitching around the edges and across the middle from corner to corner and a tape to hang it up by. The result is a neat holder, just thick enough to keep out the heat and not too thick to wash. This kind of holder uses up old pieces, and if the cretonne is pretty "brightens up a corner" of the kitchen.

TO CORNER TOMATO CROP

ANOTHER A. M. C. DRAFT OVERSEAS

The Army Medical Corps' training depot at Saccree Camp continues to send many men overseas. Following the draft which left Saccree two weeks ago, a draft of forty men proceeded overseas on Monday last, and another draft is called for. Every one of these drafts contains the names of Edmonton men. In the last draft to leave the following men who enlisted at the local recruiting office were included:
P. M. Bill, E. Casaly, A. H. Mc-
Curdy, E. E. Nobles, C. E. Robbins,
O. L. Wood, Wm. West, J. W. Mc-
Creedy and H. A. Smart.

The period of training for men now enlisting in the Army Medical Corps is now very short owing to the repeated demands for trained men. No previous experience is necessary to enlist with the A.M.C., a knowledge of how to read and write English being the only qualification necessary in addition to physical fitness. All information will be gladly given by the A.
M.C. recruiting staff in charge of Corpl. Webster, Room 3, Bradburn-
Thompson Block, 10150 101st street, Edmonton.

CROP REPORTS

At Estevan—The recent rains have done much good, and the prospect of good crops seems to be assured. Potatoes have been planted in large quantities in this community and promise well. Some farmers have already begun haying. Tomatoes, cucumbers, and green peas are being grown by many of the homesteaders.

At Waterhouse, in the Peace River district—During the last week we have had a few good rains. The weather is now cool and cloudy. Wheat, peas and barley are looking good after rain. The prospects look bright for an average yield in those cereals. Some farmers report potatoes touched by frost but only slightly. Hay is practically all cut and stacked in good condition. Cutting barley will commence about Aug. 15th, and wheat on Aug. 20th.

At Bellevue—The weather has been very unsettled. The late rains are assisting plowing though it is delaying haying.

At Glenora—The crops are looking much better and the rains of the past week has insured a much bigger yield than was expected. The farmers are all busy with their hay. The timothy is a very light crop this year.
Gardens and potatoes are fine.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 11, 1917.

The country, it seems, has been brought face to face with bloodshed in Quebec; and Sir Robert Borden, unable to deal with the situation into which he blundered in defiance of warnings, reason and petitions, is calling upon Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Lomer Gouin to try and avert the catastrophe. That is the unescapable inference from the conference called by the Governor General in Ottawa Thursday. It is strengthened by the solemn warning of Archbishop Bruchési in Montreal on Sunday, and by the dynamiting of Sir Hugh Graham's residence Wednesday night. How grave the situation is can be gathered from Sir Robert's suggestion that he may hold off the enforcement of the conscription bill. It may be that with this concession the combined influence of Sir Wilfrid and Sir Lomer will be sufficient to steady matters, and to thus gain time for a further effort to persuade the Premier of the folly of trying to play the autocrat. In any event, that this influence will be exerted wholeheartedly on the side of peace and order is sure. That it may be strong enough to prevail will be the hope of every Canadian who sets proper value upon the solidarity of the nation or who apprehends the disastrous consequences of a radical feud.

The political significance of the Winnipeg convention is that the work-the-war scheme has collapsed. The delegates failed to develop any anxiety to be led blindfolded into the camp of the profiteers under the guidance of Sir Clifford Sifton. On the contrary, they disclosed a very clear understanding of the trap that was laid for them; refused to be deluded by the hypocritical pretensions of superior patriotism on the part of the pirates of Big Business; and counter-attacked the schemers with a series of high-explosive resolutions, demanding the overthrow of the present incompetent autocracy, the establishment of a really national Government under leadership to be decided by the people at the polls, and such organization and direction of the country's resources of men and materials as will develop the utmost strength against the enemy. The initiative is now in the hands of the Western people. There is absolutely no limit to the war program hammered out at this convention. It demands first and foremost that the Allied Governments be consulted as to how Canada can contribute most effectively to the fighting power and staying power of the Allied peoples; and then that, by organization and competent direction, every ounce of energy the country is capable of developing shall be devoted to this work. It proposes that we shall first find out where our duty lies, whether in the provision of soldiers for the fighting line or of food stuffs, ships and munitions for the Allied armies and peoples; and that having found that we shall put our whole strength into the appointed task. There is no reservation in the war policy thus laid down. It means aggression, intelligently devoted to a clearly known objective, clear through to the end. Precedent does not count. Preference is not the deciding factor. The governing consideration is now Canada can help to the absolute limit of its powers. There is conscription of men involved if the provision of more soldiers is what is required of us and if they are not forth-coming voluntarily; real conscription, conscription that will conscript, regardless of the munition makers and the Nationalists. There is nationalization of munition plants, industrial establishments, money, railways, mines, ship-building plants, anything or everything for the purpose of winning the war if and to whatever extent it may be necessary. "The entire resources of the country, moral and material, 'man power and wealth,' are declared to be 'justly disposable by the state for the preservation of its national liberties.' And all these are to be concentrated upon the definite purpose of doing what, in the judgment of our Allies, will help most surely and most powerfully to win. There is no limit. It is everyone and everything to win—'To the last man' and 'the last dollar.' That is the reply of Western Liberals to the profiteers' attempt to round them up in support of inefficient government, fake patriotism and continued plunder.

As on the question of income tax, public opinion has finally moved the Government on the question of stopping the waste of grain. True, they have not moved very far, but where there is such a curious disposition to lethargy to have gived them is something, and gives ground for hope. By order-in-council it has been forbidden to use wheat in the distillation of alcohol. That much being conceded, further action cannot be logically refused. If wheat, why not barley and rye, which are needed as substitutes for wheat? The waste of these grains can be stopped too, if the public keep on demanding it. The concession to save the wheat shows that the official inertia is not irremediable. Public opinion is still capable of moving mountains.

The gas company is not in position to complete its pipe line and begin the supply of gas by the dates named in the contract. It is, therefore, applying to the city council for an extension of time. This is the council's opportunity to consider whether any amendment of the contract is necessary to protect the legitimate interests of the city or of the prospective users of gas. With that in mind it would be well for the council to take a survey of Calgary's experience with the gas company. One way and another Calgary people seem to have found a good deal to complain about in the treatment they have got. If Edmonton requires any further safeguards than are contained in the agreement as it stands, the time to demand them is when the company is asking for a concession.

An order-in-council has been passed putting restrictions upon the serving of white bread, beef and bacon in hotels and restaurants. They are stringent enough to "make a difference" in the menus offered at these establishments, and will affect a substantial saving of the foodstuffs if they are adopted as rules of conduct by the public at large. It is forbidden that beef or bacon be served more than once per day in a public eating house, and that they be not served at all on Tuesdays and Fridays. When white bread is served, substitutes must also be supplied. Public eating houses are probably as far as the Government can reach to enforce any such regulations. To enforce them in the million scattered homes of the country is obviously impossible. Yet if the scarcity of these commodities demands that the patrons of public eating houses be restricted in their use it demands an equally restricted use in private homes. Comparatively few Canadians take their meals in hotels and restaurants, and the saving that will be effected if there is curtailment of consumption only in these establishments will be trifling. If any large results are to be produced the public will have to impose upon themselves voluntarily at the family board the limitations which in public eating houses are imposed by authority. That people with homes will loyally deny themselves what the Government cannot deny them, but what others are denied, is the only hope that these or any similar regulations promulgated in Canada will accomplish the purpose of food conservation in any notable way.

Practical Socialist
"They say that mate of yours calls himself a practical Socialist," observed Private Smith.
Private Smith looked up gloomily from his half-pint tankard.
"He mat be," he said. "He pinches my socks, smokes my fags and hangs if he don't write to my girl, too."—Tit-Bits.

That food week will be observed throughout Michigan from August 1 to 5, and the celebration will be started in Detroit, with a practical demonstration of food conservation methods.

SIFTON AND BOURASSA.

Sir Clifford Sifton is reported to have told the Canadian Club of Winnipeg, on July 30th that: "If Sir Wilfrid Laurier is returned to power, it means that Canada will drop out of the war."

At the same time, Henri Bourassa, in the Le Devoir and on the platform, is telling the people of Quebec that they can not depend on Sir Wilfrid Laurier to protect them against Conscription. In a recent issue of Le Devoir, Mr. Bourassa, in discussing the debate on the third reading of the Conscription Bill said:

"On the whole, and by the declarations of its leader, the Liberal party is attached to the war policy up to the very end. In the next place the association of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Anti-Conscriptionist, and Hon. Frank Oliver, more Conscriptionist than the Government themselves, suffices to show how great is the illusion of those who blindly count upon the Liberal party for the salvation of the country. As a matter of fact, what is the practical effect of the debate concluded yesterday? The policy of the ministry threatens directly the security of the nation as well as the liberty of the citizens, while the opposition policy offers but a precarious and uncertain protection; consequently the future is by no means bright."

A repetition of the campaign of 1911 is well on. In 1911, Sifton, in Ontario, declared that loyalty to Britain demanded the defeat of Laurier, while at the same time in Quebec, and even in some parts of Ontario, Bourassa declared that Laurier's loyalty to Britain demanded his defeat. Sifton and Bourassa were fighting for Big Business in 1911. While the hired spies of Big Business in Ontario were accusing Laurier of treason in 1911, Big Business was paying for the Bourassa campaign against Laurier's loyalty in Quebec.

Big Business won in 1911 and has been winning ever since. The profits of Big Business have been greater since the war began than ever before, but the profits of the Common People have been less and are growing less every day. The Hun at the gate has found his most powerful ally in the Hun Within the Gate. It was the Profiteers of Toronto, Hamilton and Sidney who first broke down military enthusiasm in Canada and put a damper on voluntary enlistment. It was Big Business in pursuit of profit that crippled and discredited our war effort by diverting money voted to win the war to private profit. It was Big Business that demanded "Selective Conscription"—a Conscription that would permit of vast effusions of lip-loyalty while securely protecting Big Business from a fair share of the war burden. It is Big Business that attempts to discredit the loyalty of Laurier while financing the treason of Bourassa, in 1917 as in 1911.

"IF HE HAS TO."
From Toronto Telegram:
Canada notes Hon. W. J. Hanna's declaration that the Food Controller will "FIX PRICES IF HE HAS TO." All right, Mr. Hanna "has to." Let the fixing of food prices proceed.

NATIONAL PROHIBITION.
From the Chicago Tribune:
We doubt that the submission of a national prohibition amendment to the constitution without the war was within the reasonable expectation of this generation. Now, with the war, it may be expected. Social purposes are changing rapidly. Not all changes will be permanent, but we shall not escape from the new regulation of custom and habit, the new ordering of government affairs. A reaction will follow the war, naturally, but politically and socially, the world never will go all the way back to its tracks. It already has ascended, by destructive force, to a higher plane and it will not climb all the way down.

ANOTHER RACE PROBLEM.

From the Orange Sentinel:
The development in Saskatchewan and Alberta suggest that Canada is to have another race and language problem to deal with. The Teutonic populations in the western provinces are in the ascendant just now, as revealed in the provincial elections lately held.
The disloyalty in Quebec will have its counterpart in Saskatchewan and Alberta if matters are allowed to continue as they have gone. Whether the Roman Catholic Church has any hand in the developments of the past year in the western provinces or not, there is a distinct menace to British ascendancy in the events that are transpiring.
At all events, there is a menace in the Western Provinces, which may well cause serious thought on the part of the lovers of British ideals. Too much power is allowed to the alien enemies, who have been allowed to make the best of the situation through the absence of the loyal voters fighting at the front. The aliens should have been deprived of the franchise during the continuance of the war. The Sifton and Martin Governments will have a good deal to answer for when the brave patriots—the subjects of such flagrant injustice—return to their homes.

WHAT'S THE ANSWER?

From Calgary News Telegram:
A certain section of the Eastern Liberal press that is in favor of a union government having started a campaign with the object of forcing Sir Robert Borden out of the leadership, the dominating faction in the Conservative government comes back with the assertion that there will be no union government unless Borden leads it. How united are our politicians in these critical days—nearly ten weeks after a date in May upon which the people of Canada were solemnly assured that there was such a crying need for reinforcements at the front that not a day could be lost by referring the problem to the people of Canada—the people who will have to solve it anyway, and the people whose confidence and support will have to be obtained if the ranks are ever to be filled. What about the unfilled ranks today, if they are in need of men? It would seem as if they were to remain unfilled, in spite of the fact that the proper kind of a voluntary effort must fill them while the politicians settle the squabble that has been precipitated by an announcement to fill them by compulsion because of an "urgent and immediate" need that apparently existed on the 18th of May, but seems to have been lost sight of in the general political mix-up. And, on top of this "urgent and immediate" need for men in France, an American newspaper tells us that Uncle Sam in a few weeks will have 70,000 men ready to send to the front, with no ships to take them. How can these conflicting situations be harmonized?

OLD MEN COMING TO THEIR OWN

From the Toronto Globe:
The old men are now coming to their own. They are welcome everywhere. Grey hairs are no longer a barrier to getting a job. Canada never drew the line as tightly against the aged seeking work as the big corporations did in the United States. The war has made a big change in this respect across the line.

The Pennsylvania railway announces that there will no longer be a barrier to employment in that corporation. It has been a rigid rule of the Pennsylvania that no man over 45 years of age should be hired; but now they are ready to take men up to 70 if they are in sound physical condition.

The steel trust used to have an even more rigid rule than the unskilled man over 35 and no skilled man over 45 should under any conditions be hired; but the practical stoppage of immigration and the enormous expansion of the steel industry on war orders, this rule had to be thrown to the winds.

There are not isolated examples. Before the war began almost every large corporation, and many small ones, had set up a deadline even 45 years of age. Now it is not so. That a man over 40 who lost his job had little chance for re-employment, no matter how vigorous and well-to-do he might be, is not true. Now over 60 there was nothing ahead except odd jobs, support by relatives, organized charity or the poorhouse.

"THE HIGH COST OF FRUIT."

Editor Bulletin:
Sir—The high cost of living is making it exceedingly difficult for all people in different walks of life and more especially among the working classes to obtain the necessities of life as in the days before the present war. In your issue of yesterday there were several statements made by men at the head of the local fruit companies placing the cause for the increased cost of fruit at the doors of the transportation companies. It is in the public interests that such statements should not be allowed to pass unchallenged. To the person not acquainted with freight tariffs these statements are likely to be accepted without demur, but to the person with a knowledge of same they are known to be erroneous.

It is to the advantage of the consumer to know the truth and to learn that it costs $1.50 per 100 lbs. or one and a half cents a pound to transport oranges from California to Edmonton. On berries, peaches, apricots and other small fruits from California the rate is $1.50 1-2 per 100 lbs. or one and a half cents a pound. From Walla Walla, Yakima and other Washington points from which points a large part of our supply comes, the rate is lower, being $1.10 per 100 lbs. or a small fraction over one cent a pound. From the points in the Northwest the rate is lowest, that on fresh fruits being 85 cents per 100 lbs. or one cent a pound, and on apples 67 cents a hundred or a little over half a cent per pound.

Further stress was laid upon shrinkage but as a matter of fact there has been very little shrinkage in transit this summer. There is a splendid service between the points of shipment and this city. Cars are loaded in transit and any damage caused to fruit in transit transportation companies are liable for. The cost of icing a car runs from $12.00 to $20.00, and as each car contains some 24,000 lbs. of fruit the cost of refrigeration is infinitesimal.

Some little time ago the city council took this matter up with the Government Food Controller's Department but so far as can be ascertained no action has yet been taken.

The fruit preserving season is now on and the high cost of both fruit and sugar is a cause of considerable worry to the careful housewife.

If the consumer is to derive any advantage or to obtain fruit at reasonable prices prompt investigation and action should be made. The public anyway should be made to know that whatever else may be the cause, freight rates are not responsible for present prices and the wholesale fruit men will need to give a more satisfactory explanation. The public should insist upon knowing the truth and being protected from unnecessary and extortionate food profiteering.

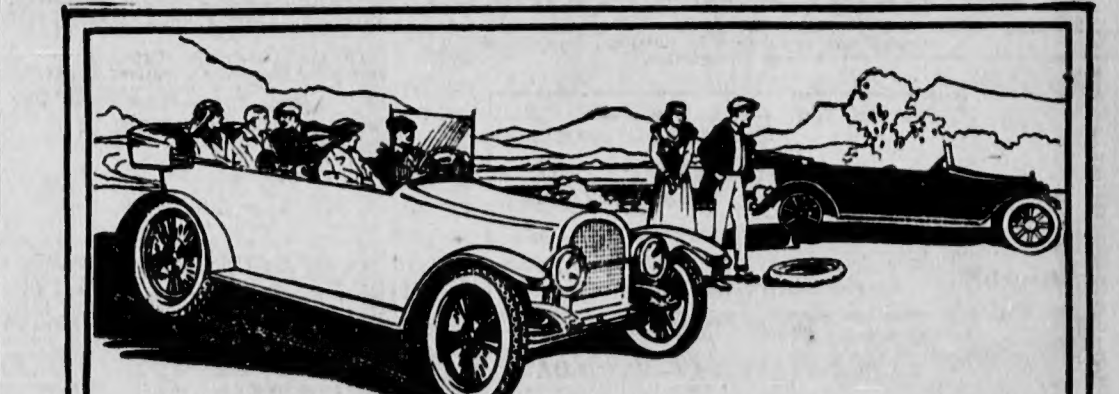

Yours truly,
FRUIT CONSUMER.

FOOD TO SOLDIERS

IS OFTEN WASTED

Sometimes Half Of It Is Unfit To Use When It Arrives At Destination.

London, Aug. 10.—(C.A.P.)—The war office has drawn attention to a wastage of food observed in the dispatch by relatives and friends of parcels containing foodstuffs to men in the expeditionary forces, and more especially among the distant forces. More than one half of the parcels containing foodstuffs, it is said, arrive quite unfit for consumption, and packages are often lost because they have been insufficiently addressed or where these addresses cannot be located. These are constantly found to contain articles such as eggs, butter, sausages, in a varying state of putrefaction.

A Mistake of Motorists

"One Tire is about as good as another"

Veterans know this is not true. The road-test has proved it wrong. If you are not riding on DOMINION TIRES, you will realize your mistake with the first set of "NOBBY TREADS" or "CHAIN TREADS" that you put on the car.

"NOBBY TREADS" are the heroes of the highway; as nearly puncture-proof as any tire can be; 100% motoring ease, pleasure and economy. Costing more to begin with, they give a net service in mileage and freedom from tire troubles, that make these "Aristocrats of the Road" the most economical on any car.

One tire isn't as good as another. DOMINION "CHAIN TREADS" are not as good as "NOBBY TREADS"—not as heavy; probably won't give the mileage; but then they don't cost as much. In their price-class, however, there is nothing to touch them for service.

WHAT PRESS
AGENTS SAYTHRILLING WAR STORY TOLD BY
PHOTO PLAY

A thrilling and unusual story, based on a phase of the European war, is "On Dangerous Ground," which is at the Empress theatre the first three days of next week, with Carlyle Blackwell and Gale Kane as the stars. In order to escape the German spies it is necessary for the heroine to pass herself off as the wife of the hero. Up to the time that she does this the heroine has never before seen the hero. It is easy to imagine some of the complications that arise from this unusual situation. It is because "On Dangerous Ground" is so different from the ordinary run of pictures that it is so exceptionally entertaining and interesting.

The story is adapted from "Little Comrade," written by Burton E. Stevenson, which was first published in Munsey's magazine, and will be remembered by all who subscribe to that excellent periodical as an outstanding piece of fiction. In transferring the story to the celluloid no expense and no time has been spared in making the production a notable event. As directed by Robert Thornby the action moves at a high rate of speed. There is not a slack moment from the time the film starts until its conclusion. The interiors and exteriors are beautiful and the photography is perfect.

PANTAGES

There is a little bit of everything in the bill at the Pantages theatre next week, mystery, comedy, and abundance of music and the movies are given a novel touch. The comedy element is provided by the Five Sullies in their variety farce, "The Information Bureau." This organization has headlined big time vaudeville bills all over the world, in England, America, South Africa and the Antipodes. They all belong to one family and every member is talented, if not as a singer then certainly as a dancer.

The Foibles de Vogue is one of those girl acts which besides possessing a chorus good to look upon has three clever principals. They are Anna Mae Bell, Hal von Rensselaer and Gladys Bamphore. Several tuneful musical numbers are either sung or played during the progress of the act. Will Solar is new to Pantages audiences as he comes to that circuit direct from the Century theatre, New York City, where he has been employed by Florenz Ziegfeld, Jr., and Charles Dillingham as the featured attraction for their famous Broadway show, "The Coconut Grove." Solar has also been lately appearing as the star at the Hippodrome, London. Diminutive in height, there is nothing small about his voice, and he is a singer of decided merit as well as of unusual talent.

"Maid of the Movies" is a well known motion picture star, who is familiar to movie fans everywhere from her many prominent appearances in Selig, Essanay and Rothacker films. She is in vaudeville on a bet, but this does not entirely explain her presence. She is talented as well.

The Mori Brothers, Japanese, acrobats, and the Universal Weekly, complete the program.

EMPRESS

"On Dangerous Ground,"
"Bitter Truth."

A story of how a man may unwittingly become entangled in a spy system in "On Dangerous Ground," and another of a great sacrifice in "Bitter Truth" constitute the two big features that will be seen at the Empress theatre, the house that has the reputation of always having a good show. In addition to these, the first of which comes for the first half of the week and the latter for the last half, there will be a return engagement of "None Faultless," the famous Edmontonian-made picture which was shown here a few months ago. There were hundreds who failed to see it then, and it raised so much talk that repeated requests have induced the management to run it again for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Accompanying "Bitter Truth" is the Mutt and Jeff comedy and the Pathe Gazette. Mutt and Jeff comedies, owing to a new arrangement with Bud Fisher, will be shown the last three days of each week in future instead of the last two days. Burton E. Stevenson, in writing the "Little Comrade," from which "On Dangerous Ground" has been filmed, chose one of the most interesting and thrilling phases of the great world conflict, namely, the secret service of the warring nations. All of the thrills have been retained in the film version of the story, and the result is a drama that is extremely interesting and entertaining. The leading roles in this film are portrayed by Gale Kane and Carlyle Blackwell, who are particularly well suited to the parts they enact. A theme for revenge, conceived in the bitterness of a moment of sorrow, keeping dominant throughout a number of years and finally spending its force only after it is about to accomplish its purpose, lends its interest to "Bitter Truth," the latest vehicle for Miss Virginia Pearson, that famous beauty of the screen who has been seen many times at the Empress under favorable circumstances. You will be well advised to see this release.

11.59 PER HEAD FROM
HERD DAIRY COWS

New Record Of Money From Milk
Comes From Wanekville Customer Of E. C. D.

A new record of money from milk has been received from G. Endres of Wanekville, who during June made $69.53 from six cows which beats the record of $75 from 7 cows quoted from the Allx Free Press in a recent issue of The Bulletin.

Mr. Endres had six cows, one a Jersey, the rest common cows. Among these is a cow milking ten months and two heifers, two years and four months old. He ships cream to the Edmonton City Dairy and has a Beatrice separator. He had in the month of June the total sum of $69.53 and yet thinks that there are some that can beat him.

Who's next to break the record of the Endres herd which is $11.59 per head for cream sales during June, 1917?

WHEAT DISTRIBUTION

The amount of wheat estimated by the Daily Trade Bulletin, marketed by farmers of the United States during the harvest year is about 620,000,000 bushels, and quantity used for seed about 30,000,000 bushels, making a consumption from the farms of 750,000,000 bushels. Official estimate of the crop was 640,000,000 bushels, and the amount on farms on July 1, 1916, about 74,000,000 bushels, a total of 724,000,000 bushels. This would indicate a farm supply on hand of about 14,000,000 bushels on July 1, 1917.—Journal of Commerce.

MARQUIS HARD TO BEAT

F. J. Powell, of Edwell, has a piece of Marquis wheat that would be hard to beat. It is in head, and is four feet three inches in height. It comes from registered stock, and although the field is not large, it will no doubt give a remarkable yield. It was planted May 10th and therefore was in head seventy days from being sown. It should be fit to cut in a month's time, or one hundred days from planting. Some people say it can't be done.—Red Deer News.

MONARCH

"Love That Lives"—Famous Players.
"The Rough House"—Arbuckle-Paramount.

Pauline Frederick, one of the greatest emotional actresses, would agree any role that she was given to perform, but in "The Love That Lives," in which she will be seen on the Monarch screen all next week, she has been accorded a vehicle which allows her to display the full splendid scope of her remarkable talent. It can be truthfully said that in this production, which was directed by Robert G. Vignola, Miss Frederick has attained a height of artistry never before reached even in her brilliant career.

It would seem on the first thought that the role of a scrubwoman held few if any possibilities, yet Miss Frederick has imparted to such a role all the charm and pathos and infinite understanding of which she alone is capable, and Molly, the office drudge, as portrayed by Miss Frederick, becomes a character that is lovable, understandable and charming.

The company surrounding Miss Frederick consists of the following well-known players: John Bains, Earl O'Malley, Joseph Carroll, Violet Palmer, Frank Evans and Eldeen Stewart.

Besides "The Love That Lives," there will be a Roscoe Arbuckle comedy on this program entitled "The Rough House." As usual the hefty fun-maker has provided himself with several well-known comedians to assist in making this picture one of the outstanding comedies of the Arbuckle-Paramount series. These assistants include Al St. John and Buster Keaton.

MAJESTY

The Story of "God of Little Children."

Mary Keane had never broken a single one of God's or Man's laws, but a chain of unfortunate circumstances had placed her in the power of Robert Moran, an unscrupulous crook. Moran forces her to obtain employment in the office of John Ingalls, a wealthy lawyer, in order that she might work on his known love for children through a supposed sister. The plan might have succeeded, but for the fact that Ingalls fell in love with Mary, and she with him. Moran announces the marriage, feeling that he can do more with his accomplice as the wife of his intended victim.

Mary is wonderfully happy until Moran demands that she go away with him. Made desperate by his threat, she plans to commit suicide.

Meanwhile, Moran hires a gunman to kill Ingalls in a way that would make his death appear to be suicide. Mary is standing on the banks of a lake on the grounds of their home. She is about to end the struggle in the dark waters. Offering up a prayer to the God of Little Children, which is being shown at the Majesty for the last time today, for her unborn baby, she turns to take one last look at the house where her husband is alone, reading a silhouetted against a blind, she sees the crouching figure of a man holding a revolver before him. Forgetting herself in the danger that threatens her husband, she rushes into the house in time to save his life. Moran and his accomplice are killed by their own weapons by their own weapons, and Mary is freed from the menace that had threatened to destroy her happiness.

WOOL PRICES MAINTAINED.

At the sale of wool arranged by the local Wool Growers' Association at Pincher Creek, Alta., a few days ago, 61,680 pounds of wool were disposed of at 59½ cents a pound. While higher prices than this have been obtained in Southern Alberta this season, the price is considered to be highly satisfactory, in view of the fact that it is the average price for all grades. This year many farmers, tempted by the high prices which individual buyers are offering, have been disposing of their wool on their own initiative. This has been the case more particularly with the large growers, so that the quantity of wool being offered at the local sales is much less than it was last year. Especially in this noticeable at Calgary, Alta. Whereas last year approximately 300,000 pounds were offered for sale, only about half this quantity is expected this year, 80,000 pounds of which have already arrived and been graded. The participants in the sale this year will be more numerous, which goes to show the greater interest being taken in sheep raising as part of the scheme of mixed farming.

FIRM SOLD 20 TRACTORS

Twenty gas tractors have been sold to farmers of the local district in the neighborhood of Edmonton this season by Graham & Anderson, implement dealers, of Rice street. One of these tractors was used in the cultivation of 450 acres this season. In the Clover Bar settlement, they sold one tractor last year and eight this year. As a result of the deals passed through by this firm, it is estimated that over 2,000 acres will be cultivated this season by means of tractors.

Stomach Cramps
COLIC

These are very painful, and their attacks are often sudden, and sometimes fatal. The principal seat is in the stomach and bowels, producing severe twisting, cramping pain, and often accompanied by vomiting. If you are troubled in this way, there is only one remedy to cure you, and that one is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It has a record of cures extending over 12 years, and we have yet to hear of a case where it has failed to either relieve or cure.

Beware of imitations and substitutes sold by unscrupulous dealers for the sake of greater profits, as these names, no-reputation, worthless preparations may prove dangerous to your health.

Mrs. H. Miller, 135 Mark St., Port William, Ont., writes: "Last summer my husband came home from work, and could hardly straighten up for cramps. The first thing I gave him was a dose of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and I hadn't repeated it very long until he was all right again. It is the only remedy I give my children in the summer for cholera or cramps in the stomach. I have never been without it in the house for the last three years."

WITH ARBUCKLE

Film fans have oft remarked that in a Roscoe ("Fatty") Arbuckle picture they are sure to see comedy capers out by others as well as the star himself. Unlike most screen comedians he does not undertake to present a one-man show, no matter how well qualified he is to do that very thing, but on the contrary makes certain that every one in his supporting company is given every opportunity to exercise his or her individual talents.

In preparing the scenario before starting to "shoot" the scenes, Mr. Arbuckle carefully figures on the fitness and personality of his two mainstays, Al St. John and "Buster" Keaton, writing parts which will give their propensities fullest scope. Then during the making of the picture when it frequently happens that the situation takes a twist unanticipated by the scenario writer instead of eliminating it or reconstructing it so that he may "hog" the scene, "Fatty" allows the incident to work itself out to the logical conclusion, the glory to whoever is entitled to it. The result is that in Arbuckle comedies, the others of the company do not appear merely as foils to the comedian. When the other day a letter to the studio commented on Arbuckle's generosity in this respect he merely remarked: "I am interested in making good pictures, not pictures good only for self-exploitation."

Additional evidence of Mr. Arbuckle's policy of giving everybody a chance will be supplied when the next Arbuckle-Paramount comedy, "The Rough House," is released exhibitors on June 25th.

A LARGE CATTLE DEAL

A transaction involving over a head of cattle and grazing rights over several thousand acres of land in Blood Indian Reserve, in Southern Alberta, has just been closed, the consideration being almost half a million dollars. This is one of the largest deals of the kind that has ever been closed in Alberta, and, together with other deals which have taken place recently, furnishes evidence of keen interest that is being displayed in one of the most profitable industries of Western Canada.

Miss Frederick's portrayals of character are always splendid even though the story is not of the best, but here we have a story by Alexander Middleton, who has written some of the best plays and photoplays of the past ten years and some mighty good books and stories, too.

This one breathes of the sublime sacrifice of a mother whose glorious, though unconventional, efforts to retain and save from poverty the children she had given to the world remind you of a Dumas.

St. Paul de Metis District Has Great Possibilities

Settled by a Progressive People Who Are Developing Natural Industry at a Rapid Rate
---Railway Facilities Now Only Needed To Bring District Into Its Merited Prosperity

Within the Province of Alberta there are many very fine and productive sections, and one of these is known as the St. Paul de Metis district, within which is the village of the same name—a clean, well situated, carefully managed municipality with little indebtedness and very reasonable taxation.

As will be seen by the plan of the riding on following page, known by the name of St. Paul de Metis, it is a territory situated north-east of the Vegreville district. It is bounded on the south by the North Saskatchewan river, on the north, by unincorporated territory between Rps. 69 and 70; on the west by the line between Ranges 8 and 9 for the greater depth and 10 and 11 for a short distance, and on the east by the Province of Saskatchewan.

It is a well-watered and timbered section. In addition to the fine wide, and high banked Saskatchewan river, there are a number of lakes within the territory, the chief of which are Cold Lake and Primrose Lake, both towards the north-east of the riding. Each is a fine body of water, but though larger are no better than Lake Thérrien, at the village. Cold Lake is 20 miles square, Primrose 30 by 10, and Thérrien 15 by 3. There is fish in all the lakes.

The hunter can find within St. Paul de Metis district, both large and small game. There are geese, duck, prairie chicken and pheasants; bear, moose and elk. Regarding duck and moose, some exceedingly good stories are told.

Valuable Timber Available.

Of timber within the constituency, there are all kinds of trees known to northern Alberta, and much of it is serviceable for lumber purposes. It is said that it is to reach the good limits in the neighborhood of Cold Lake that is calling for the early completion of the railway from Hlyo east.

While St. Paul de Metis village is one of the more recently formed, some parts of the district have been before the public for years. One of these is called Frog Lake reserve, to the east of the place—a section which in rebellion times, played a prominent part. The soldiers in marching north, passed east of what is now the village. At that time there was quite a number of Indians around, but not so now, the section being fairly well taken up by settlers.

As showing the standing the place has in Canada, it may be stated that there is a Dominion government building in the village, the place being on the main line of the original line of the Canadian telegraph system.

The building is a two-story structure on property reserved on the townsite for public purposes. It is used as telegraph office and also as the office of the Provincial Government telephones.

A sub-agency of the Dominion lands is in the village, and it is the headquarters of a detachment of the Provincial Police.

The village of St. Paul de Metis is an old half-breed section, of what is known as the R.C. Mission Property, a brief history of which appears elsewhere as given by the parish priest, Father Thérrien. At the east end of the lake is the church property, on the north side of the main street being the large church, having three statues in front and bell, with bell, on top. Opposite the other buildings and beyond them, and south of the rest of the village, beautiful Lake Thérrien runs for some miles—a body of water 15 miles long by 2 wide, with a number of islands in it.

Railroad Facilities Needed.

The territory around the village is well settled, with good roads and a number of fine buildings. There is no doubt that if the village had railroad facilities it would soon jump into a place of considerable importance.

St. Paul de Metis is incorporated as a village, and elects a reeve and two councillors each year, those for 1917 being Benj. Roy, reeve; Ed Meunier and George Deslauriers, councillors. Ernest Cloutier is the secretary-treasurer. While the village is incorporated under the above name, in the post office is called the same, the expectation is that, when the railway is finished, the station will be simply St. Paul, by which it is now largely known.

As there is no railroad entering, one side of the village is not taken up by tracks. There are two well built up sides to the main street, some of the stores being considerably ahead of older and larger places. The right-of-way for the C.N.R., as arranged for, runs well back from this street, so that there is no fear of the leading thoroughfare being injured by railway tracks.

Gasoline Lighting Used.

The main street is lighted by gasoline, through a number of lights on poles at corners of the streets, and the meat market of Ed. Meunier, and the pool room of Geo. Deslauriers are lighted by what is known as the Delco lighting system, which is really individual electric lighting. Both these gentlemen are councillors of the village and are to be commended for their enterprise.

There is a school in the village, and the surrounding territory is well supplied in the same manner, a number of the school districts having bright-looking places with well kept grounds.

A noticeable feature was the quietness of the village on Sunday. All the services at the church are usually largely attended, the ministrations of Father Thérrien evidently being appreciated.

Well Graded Streets.

In the village there is five miles of well-graded streets, with necessary culverts, with plank sidewalks of two miles and more concrete walks than in places of the same size.

There are two public wells, beside a large number at private homes, furnishing the early morning water.

Cheap Place to Live.

St. Paul de Metis may be said to be a cheap place in which to live, as the financial standing is A1—it is said to present the best report in the province. The assessment for 1917 is $160,000, and is based upon about a three-quarter value of land and buildings. There is no personal property assessment. The taxes raised are there is no revenue from licenses and so on. There are no special restrictions upon the populace—all living in harmony and evidently making progress. Taxes have been very well met, the village never having been called upon to hold a tax sale or use force to collect. Encouragement is for owners to build as the best lot is not taxed more than $12 per year. All lots are 50 feet wide by 140 feet deep. The total indebtedness of the village is but $5,000, which includes a debenture debt of $3,000. $2,000 of the debt is for exhibition grounds and $500 for fire engine; the balance being for miscellaneous apparatus and current debts. A small special tax could be levied and the entire indebtedness paid off in a short time. Another factor going to make the place a reasonable one to live in is the abundance of good wood. Nearly every house has a winter supply nicely piled adjacent to the home, drying for the coming winter. It may be said to be a genuine home town. There are of course some croakers, but they are very few, "thou shalt live at a disadvantage for railway assistance, most of the residents speak well of the place and are willing to do what they can to help it along.

Suggested Improvement.

The main highway to St. Paul de Metis is from Vegreville north and may be said to be in good condition. If it is within the writer's province to suggest improvement, it is that the Government put a tractor outfit to work and place in better shape the road now existing; and in view of the railway neglect it is suggested help in this way should be given. There is a very fair road bed but it requires to be rounded up, so that water will run off readily, and thus preserve the grade. The run is now from Vegreville in about four hours by auto, and this could be lessened if there was better top to the highway. The day the Bulletin representative toured north there were sixteen cars, besides teams and buggies, on the way, and on the return trip, from St. Paul to Broussau, fifteen vehicles, most of them carrying merchandise and effects, were met.

Travellers do not suffer in the accommodation line, for there are few better kept places than the St. Paul hotel.

Good Mail Service.

The mail service is of the best, being daily north to St. Paul, so that the citizens have the daily papers within a short time of publication. As St. Paul is a distributing point for outlying places postmaster Thérrien is kept quite busy. To some of the outside post offices, mail is forwarded three times a week, and others twice, by stage.

At the present time the district is represented in the Dominion house by the Hon. Frank Oliver, in what is known as Edmonton constituency, one of the largest, if not the largest as to the area, in the Dominion, at any rate in the West. This house is cut in two, by the new representation act, and there will be two representatives for the greater portion of the present territory after next election. St. Paul district will be then in what is to be known as Battle River constituency. At one time Sir Wilfrid Laurier was elected for this section of the territory, he being returned for this as well as for a constituency in the East.

Representation Enlarged.

Locally, the present riding was originally in what was known as Pagan riding, out of which there are now three constituencies. In 1903 P. E. Lessard was returned for the larger riding, and he still is representative for the smaller riding. There are about 8,000 voters in the riding, with a population of some 8,000. Within the territory included in the first St. Paul riding (Pagan), there are eleven ferries, all of which are free to the public between the hours of 7 a.m. and 6 p.m. and after that a nominal fee is charged by the man looking after them.

The Stock Industry.

Cattle buyers were scurrying here and there—the great difference between the present up-to-date method of doing things and the old being quite apparent, as the journeying was done in autos, (although the animals had to be herded in the usual manner). While in the east it was done by vehicle and sometimes afoot. The day the representative was at St. Paul, one firm had picked up one hundred head of stockers; the young animals were sent off to nearby ranchers, where they are to run at will until in good marketable condition.

In hogs, considerable business is also done, but the great drawback in connection therewith is the lack of convenient transportation. Owing to these the porkers have to be carried for many miles (over one hundred miles being reported in one instance) and often at the journey's end the pigs are not in the very best of shape for market purposes, the result being that sometimes less is offered for the animals than they are really worth, and thus the farmer suffers. It is felt that if there were railroad facilities nearer at hand this would be overcome.

If there was freight accommodation much more would be done in the stock line. One man alone informed the writer that he had 3,700 head at hand for shipment, but it was a question what was to be done, as the loss through shrinkage to be faced was an item that was serious. An actual instance was given where one man lost 17 pounds on each animal through shrinkage, and, rather than hold the stock over, took a cent a pound less than he considered a just price. Through this, there was quite a loss to the seller.

Social Life Not Forgotten.

Recreation is by no means forgotten in connection with life in St. Paul. Generally the people are, as it were, one great big family and enter into social life heartily. In the summer time there are hosts of picnic parties to be found here and there at the many beauty spots enjoying outdoor life. There is an athletic club which in season is responsible for monthly, and sometime more frequent, assemblies. For these a good orchestra furnishes music, and a brass band, also, lends to the enjoyment of the citizens. There is handball, tennis, and baseball. Of the latter there is a crack nine, a challenge having been issued to meet any club, not carrying professionals, north of the Saskatchewan river. In winter, there is hockey and skating on a rink. Flag poles on many of the buildings denote that when necessary, considerable display is made: even in front of the Chinese laundry the Union Jack was flying.

These four views give good representation of St. Paul de Metis, Alta. Although this district has not been favored with a railway, the village has made good headway and boasts of modern improvements. The first scene gives a general view of St. Paul and the bottom the extreme east end of the main street, looking from the mission property westward into the village. The left centre picture is that of the town at the east end from where the scene at the bottom ceases, looking west, and the view on the right from the west end looking eastward.

Quite a turn in affairs has taken place in connection with one of the leading hotels in Bruderheim, Alberta, a large three-story frame building, about the centre of the town, and has been purchased by a company to be fixed up and used as a departmental store.

It is vastly different executing work by the various inspectors, etc., now than years ago. Through the present auto-method of transportation, work which some years back would take weeks, if not months, can be finished in eight or ten days. One instance came under notice lately, which the men did in a week and which, under the old order, would require three. Commercial travellers also cover much more territory, and to better advantage than in years gone by.

One of the reasons assigned for there not being more grain sown in the St. Paul de Metis district is the lack of railroad facilities. The lack of a railway, however, may be a good thing, as settlers may be thus driven to more mixed farming, and, doing this, not be so dependent upon the one thing. While there is not as much crop in area this year as last, indications are, if that under crop now should be sown again, there will be a greater area next year, for a number of new fields are being broken, tractors and teams being at work in sections, ripping up large portions of the prairie.

The villages from Edmonton to Vegreville all show advancement, and at the implement houses there is considerable activity. New farm buildings were up and others under construction here and there. To one who had covered the territory some time before, it was a pleasing "eye opener," as the improvement all along was quite noticeable.

At one farm it was observed that the owner had found sufficient soldiers on his place to make a foundation for a fence. It reminded one of districts in the East.

The North Saskatchewan River and the view at the villages of Duvvynay, on the south side, and Broussau on the north, is magnificent. There is good width to the stream and the banks are not so broken as at many other places. The first-named village has more buildings than the other and has a saw mill, but Broussau has the scoping place, and the Roman Catholic church, which stands on a hill overlooking the village, and which has to be reached by several serpentine roads from the ferry.

A little east of Bruderheim a farmhouse was noticed which it would be well for others to pattern after. The building has a screened-in porch for the greater distance around it, giving "working comfort" for the women folks. Such improvement would not cost a great sum and would add greatly to the comfort of the family.

The drive from Vegreville to St. Paul is charming to one who has been used to a level country. The scenery at all times changes and at places is very fine, especially at the Saskatchewan and Vermilion valleys. All along the flora is beautiful, there being blossoms of all colors. The trip is enhanced as the driver leaves the main road and winds along through trails, hemmed in on each side by timber.

Feel Lack of Transportation.

The great drawback to the district at the present time is the lack of railway facilities. Had the village of St. Paul a railway there is no doubt the place itself would make great strides and the district would benefit immensely. The railway question has been a vexed one for a number of years and the settlers cannot understand why a line has not reached them. One, the C.N.R., has been mooted for years and has had much of its line filed and approved by the local government. Promises after promises have been made that the line would be finished by such and such a time but as often has there been disappointment.

Some have hinted that it is because the railway has no direct interest in the townsite, that the village is being sidetracked. This can hardly be the case for forty acres have been given them. But some have been unkind enough to hint that that is not sufficient, that the Company desire more before taking definite action. These views, and the others hinting at untold delay, do not help matters. The company may have been neglectful in the past, but at the present time are next to helpless. Once the war is over, there is no doubt that conditions will improve, and then there will be impetus again given railroad construction. If the C.N.R. does not then give the Oliver-St. Paul first consideration, it will be up to the people to press the claims more earnestly upon the company and see that the line is constructed.

SNAPSHOTS OF ST. PAUL DE METIS

Hon. P. E. Lessard, M.P.P., spent a few days here lately. His appearance on the village streets with coat off, led some to ask if he was here for good.

J. S. McLennan, Dominion timber inspector, spent several days with us on his way to the north.

The Athletic Club held a very successful dance a few nights ago.

Bank Manager Lessard of the Banque d'Hochelega, has been off on his vacation, his place being filled by Mr. Gadoury of St. Albert.

Haying is well on in this district. For days and days anxious eyes were upon the clouds, the hope being that rain would come. Each time it threatened there would be a break and it would pass around. However, we have now had good showers, and conditions are not so bad as at first feared.

A. H. Allan, chartered accountant, has been in the village for some days, auditing some company books.

A couple of surveyors created quite a flurry here a few days back. Their appearance in the village gave rise to the belief that they were here on behalf of the C.N.R., as the time for completion of the 100 miles of the railway, approved by the government, expired July 31st. Hopes were, however, disappointed for, after doing some special work at Owl's Eye Lake, they passed on north to Cold Lake.

Quite a number of the recent visitors to St. Paul have indulged in a plunge in Lake Thérrien, and have been pleased with its fine bathing advantages.

The Milling Co. are making considerable improvements to their premises, preparatory to the opening of the new season. One of them will be the bringing of water by pipe from the lake close by.

Homestead Inspector Griffin was a few hours in town the last week in July, passing north again the first week in August, after visiting Edmonton on official business, accompanied by his assistant, Mr. Falconer.

Ed. Meunier made delivery some few days back of a shipment of hogs. Through the transportation being by wagon to Vegreville, there was considerable shrinkage, but otherwise the sale was a very fair one.

W. J. Hyle, north of the river, and L. Stead, south of it, have been for some days making inspections under what is known as the "Cow Act" passed at the last session of the legislature. Quite a number of recommendations were made.

St. Paul de Metis District Has Great Possibilities

Settled by a Progressive People Who Are Developing Natural Industry at a Rapid Rate
---Railway Facilities Now Only Needed To Bring District Into Its Merited Prosperity

Within the Province of Alberta there are many very fine and productive sections, and one of these is known as the St. Paul de Metis district, within which is the village of the same name—a clean, well situated, carefully managed municipality with little indebtedness and very reasonable taxation.

As will be seen by the plan of the riding on following page, known by the name of St. Paul de Metis, it is a territory situated north-east of the Vegreville district. It is bounded on the south by the North Saskatchewan river, on the north, by unincorporated territory between Rps. 69 and 70; on the west by the line between Ranges 8 and 9 for the greater depth and 10 and 11 for a short distance, and on the east by the Province of Saskatchewan.

It is a well-watered and timbered section. In addition to the fine wide, and high banked Saskatchewan river, there are a number of lakes within the territory, the chief of which are Cold Lake and Primrose Lake, both towards the north-east of the riding. Each is a fine body of water, but though larger are no better than Lake Thérrien, at the village. Cold Lake is 20 miles square, Primrose 30 by 10, and Thérrien 15 by 3. There is fish in all the lakes.

The hunter can find within St. Paul de Metis district, both large and small game. There are geese, duck, prairie chicken and pheasants; bear, moose and elk. Regarding duck and moose, some exceedingly good stories are told.

HOME OF THE OS. LESSARD

One of the nice homes in St. Paul de Metis is that of Thos. Lessard, at the west end of the place.

Father J. A. Therien Has Been in Charge Parish of St. Paul de Metis For More Than Twenty Years Time

In July, 1896, at Request of the Late Father Lacombe, He Entered Upon His Work There—When He Arrived there was only One Tepee and he has witnessed with pleasure the growth of the village and district.

One of the most interesting gentleman to meet in the St. Paul de Metis district is Rev. J. A. Therien, O.M.I.
He is not only the parish priest of the territory, but at the present is "Father" as to length of residence. It was in July, 1896, that the reverend gentlemen, at the request of Father Lacombe, commenced to lay the foundation of what has since been one of the most prosperous sections in the West.
When he located on the spot there was but one tepee, and he has witnessed, with pleasure, the advance made since that time. Rev. Father Therien is a gentleman who has to be met to be appreciated. He is a fine type of man, devoted to his church, and is highly appreciated by his parishioners.
Rev. Father Therien has been in Western Canada for about thirty years, coming to the country in 1887 from Montreal, and has covered much of the West, acting for a number of years for his people along the C. P. R.
He was appointed by Bishop Grandin, upon Father Lacombe's authority, to establish the St. Paul de Metis mission and selected four townships for it, living in a tent for some time. He was then appointed to St. Paul de Metis Brosseau. The Hudson's Bay kindly let him have some old buildings at Edmonton. These were pulled down and carried down the river, along with some lumber donated by John Walter, who had a mill there, to the new Brosseau landing. Here it remained on the shore for some time, unoccupied, of course, as there were no settlers around. His arrival was not long in becoming known in the neighboring country. As a consequence, halfbreeds came from all over the district, and soon a colony was established. Each halfbreed settler received eighty acres to care for, but only the use of it as no title could be given. The lumber at the landing was Fourteen Parishes in District.

Originally the territory was opened solely for halfbreeds and Indians, but this has all been changed. While the chief settlers are of French extraction, there are representatives of nearly all nationalities to be found as far north as Lac la Biche and Cold Lake. There are in all fourteen parishes in this district with three or four schools in each. There is much good land, and the Rev. Father holds that the only thing hindering a rush to the section is the lack of railway facilities. These he has looked for for many years, and is still confident that they will come.
Rev. Father Therien is far from a recluse. He takes a keen interest in all that goes on, not only in the immediate neighborhood, but in the country as a whole. He is pleased to let one know that he comes from the same parish in Quebec as Sir Wilfrid Laurier, with whom he is personally acquainted, and is delighted to recount that the parish was once visited by ex-Premier Bowell, and ex-Minister of the Interior Daly, as well as the Hon. Sam Hughes, Hon. Frank Oliver, while Minister of the Interior, and also as an ordinary member, has visited the place.
While this is in brief form the story of the district, as far as Father Therien reports, it may be stated that the wider settlement goes back to 1860, for in that year there was, at what is now Brosseau, a district called St.
Paul de Cree—the home of the Cree Indians, now found at Saddle Lake and other points. They were not long there, and when removal was made to the reserve the settlement was abandoned.
Has Printing Plant
Quite an interesting thing noticed was that there is a printing plant in connection with the work of Father Therien. The body type is chiefly of Syllabic (Cree) characters, and the

J. A. THERIEN, O.M.I.

Rev. Father Therien was born in the province of Quebec and in his early youth decided to devote his life to the ministry. His primary schooling was received there and graduation was from St. Theresa seminary in 1882. In July, 1886, the Father took up work as missionary in Western Canada, and has devoted himself assiduously ever since. During this time he has seen many ups and downs in life, but he is confident that, notwithstanding the many hardships endured, he has carried a cheerful aspect. The reverend gentleman is highly respected in the territory. Being at present the oldest in length of residence, he is looked upon as the "father" of St.
Paul de Metis district in a material as well as spiritual sense, taking as he does a keen interest in all that pertains to the well being of the section.
The Bulletin is pleased to give the above out of Father Therien, as it was not in any sense self-sought, but insisted upon by parishioners.

ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH PROPERTY AT ST. PAUL DE METIS, ALTA.

The R.C. Church has a very fine property at St. Paul de Metis. It lies at the east end of the town, the church, with well-fenced cemetery at the rear, being on the north side of the main street; the Presbytery, Convent and other buildings being on the south side between the highway and

Lake Therien. The Presbytery is the oldest building, the main portion being put up in 1896, and improved from time to time later on. There have been several chapels since the organization of the community, the present church building being erected in 1908.
In connection with the convent, the school work has been carried on in different buildings, the work of the Sisters being first undertaken in 1898.

Notwithstanding the many set-backs that have been encountered there has been great growth along school lines.
The building stands well back from the roadway and there are neat approaches thereto, although the present condition of finances do not allow completion as well as Father Therien would like.

NEWSY BRIEFS

The friends of E. Brosseau were pleased to hear of his good fortune in the sale of Edmonton property to a large hardware firm. While perhaps $21,000 was not in the light of the past, a large figure, for the present condition of things, it was not so bad.

Most of the territory, to Brosseau at any rate, is well fenced and hundreds of cattle are to be seen grazing in the fields. The settlers certainly believe that it is a stock country, and that there is money in such, for many of them have plenty of good-looking cattle, horses, hogs and sheep. And poultry is by no means forgotten.

To St. Paul de Metis the buildings were good. In this respect, the Galacia, built behind the other, the mud-plastered buildings are well built with tidy surroundings.
A very fine stone church, constructed of field stone found in the neighborhood, with dark blue mortar fillings was observed, which would do credit to many a town.

P. Benoit.

People of St Paul Have Been Among First to Take Advantage Live Stock Encouragement Act

Inspector W. J. Hyde Has Been Busy For Some Time and Fifteen
Applications Have Already Been Received—Advent to Live Stock
Will Mean Much in Development of District.

The St. Paul de Metis district has the honor of being one of the first to take advantage of what is known as the "Cow Act"—more properly known as the "Live Stock Encouragement Act"—an act which enables individuals in a community to take advantage of the loans through the Provincial legislature to be used in connection with developing the stock industry. The Act enables men without means or with limited capital, to embark into something that makes for future prosperity.
W. J. Hyde, acting in the capacity of Inspector, has the past few days been at work looking after affairs in connection with the new Act, and the first district visited was that of St. Paul de Metis, where in all fifteen applications were taken up. The first to be reported upon was that of Emmett Shreaves, an association comprising Mr. Shreaves and five of his family. Some of those reported upon were what may be termed gilt-edge and should have no trouble in passing; others will likely have to meet certain requirements, which it is understood will be of material benefit to the applicants from more than the loan standpoint and are not difficult to meet.
Will Aid District
Should each of the fifteen associations be given the assistance asked for it will mean that close on, if not over $40,000 will be invested in new cattle business in St. Paul de Metis district, in the hands of actual tri-setters, who know the conditions and requirements of the territory, thus giving increased impetus to the business that is already doing much for the district.

St. Paul People Enjoy Picnic At the Picturesque Owl's Lake

Leaders in Social Event Were Mr. and Mrs. T. Lessard—Later in Day, When Rain Came, Adjournment Made to Home of Mrs. Polish—Edmonton Visitors Present.

One of the pleasantest of the Bulletin representative at St. Paul, was a private picnic one afternoon. The leaders in the event were Mr. and Mrs. T. Lessard, and they spared no trouble to make it a success. By horses and buggies, and autos, those enjoying the outing were conveyed to Owl's Eye Lake, a prettily situated sheet of water, with finely treed shores, some eight or so miles from the village.
About noon, the party arrived at the lake, and soon Mrs. Lessard, ably assisted by other ladies, proceeded to arrange lunch. A regular camp fire, with tripped over it to carry the pot and kettle, was started, and while the water was being heated, and the good fowl sinner in the pot cooked, an impromptu table on the natural sward, amidst trees, was being spread with good things.
When all was in shape, and nicely protected from the approaching shower by tent-curtain, and tree limbs, the company was called to partake of the repast. And, oh, such a spread. The scribe fails in ability for description—suffice it to say that he, with the others, enjoyed a meal in the open such as it is not the lot of many people to enjoy. It had such temptation and so much of the natural sward, the company was called to partake of the repast. A shower coming prevented the full enjoyment of the outing, but the rain was so beneficial to the section that it was welcomed, though it prevented the program being carried out.
However, all betook themselves to the home of Mrs. Polish, and there a most pleasant afternoon was spent socially. Before parting another meal was spread, this time within the home of Mrs. Polish, and, say, if the earlier meal was a repast, the latter one was more so. The "leading feature" of the outing, however, was the fried fish fresh from the adjacent lake, the home being but a short distance from the water, and another special dish was a delectable loaded down with cream (not half and half), of home production. In addition, there were other appetizing things, but they had to be given the go-by for the first part was sufficient. Though the company was

BATHING AT ST. PAUL DE METIS, ALTA.

The bathing in Lake Therien, just to the south of St. Paul, is of the best. The scene above gives an idea of the advantages along this line. The bottom is of fine sand and runs out gradually, allowing wading to the foot height of man. Many there are who hold to the view that soon the lake will be the centre of a pleasure resort. It is really two lakes, the one to the west being larger than the other. While there is good sloping open beach back some two hundred or more feet, there is fine bush for quite a distance. The body of water is named Therien Lakes after the "father of the district," Rev. Father Therien.

Railway Problem in St. Paul de Metis

Line Should be Completed Without Delay

The non-completion of the Oliver-St. Paul section of the C.N.R. is a vexed question in the St. Paul de Metis district. It cannot be understood why it has not been finished.

This was forcibly brought to our notice through the visit of a Bulletin representative to the place the latter part of July. The district has been promised, and promised time and again, that the road would be finished by the end of the summer. It has been promised that there would be railway accommodation. It has become such a vexed question in the uppermost in the minds of the people and they consider it from all angles.

At the time of our visit the papers of the previous dates were being read and in them was the information that Hon. W. J. Hanna, the Dominion food controller, when addressing a meeting at Toronto, on the 23rd made use of this statement: "We look to the resources of Canada and the indomitable energy of Canadians for an answer that will shatter Germany's threat of starvation." This, Mr. Hanna said was from Baron Rhonda, the British food controller, and the Canadian minister emphasized it and stated unequivocally that with a deficiency on this continent of 180,000 bushels, to supply the needs of the allies, the situation was more acute, and that food conservation was vital towards winning the war.

With all this, there is a general support, but those in the St. Paul de

Metis district looked at it in the light of their position, and on putting two and two together were at a loss to reconcile themselves to the fact that the government really believed all Mr. Hanna advocated, for, if so, they are of the opinion that the government would listen to the cry of the district and use every endeavor to see that the C.N.R. was put in running order to the village, if not right through to Turfville, in order that production in the territory might be supported and further work encouraged. As it is, there is decrease in place of increase in farming operations, some being discouraged altogether. The acreage sown last year was less than the year before and indications are that it will be less next year unless the relief comes. Farmers cannot be expected to push ahead when there is no way of getting the produce out. Hauling grain for over a hundred miles does not have a tendency to induce cultivation, and to find a heavy shrinkage in stock after carrying it so many miles, cools the ardor of the producer very much. This, of course, would not apply so keenly if it referred to a new section, but the Dominion government steps in and says the line cannot be built as steel cannot be secured; perhaps it is more correct to say that the C.N.R. states that they cannot finish because they cannot procure steel. With nearly everyone met, the wonder is why they did not procure steel long ago, before they ran out of the funds brought to them by the action of the legislature, and in fact, not a few attach blame to the local authorities for not seeing that with assistance rendered, rails were first purchased. It is, of course, not

Here is part of the government railroad map, showing the relation of the constituency to the others. On it Creek, which station we have placed from Hwy East, showing the portion under construction with lines across and the proposed portion to Cold Lake broken.

Metis district looked at it in the light of their position, and on putting two and two together were at a loss to reconcile themselves to the fact that the government really believed all Mr. Hanna advocated, for, if so, they are of the opinion that the government would listen to the cry of the district and use every endeavor to see that the C.N.R. was put in running order to the village, if not right through to Turfville, in order that production in the territory might be supported and further work encouraged. As it is, there is decrease in place of increase in farming operations, some being discouraged altogether. The acreage sown last year was less than the year before and indications are that it will be less next year unless the relief comes. Farmers cannot be expected to push ahead when there is no way of getting the produce out. Hauling grain for over a hundred miles does not have a tendency to induce cultivation, and to find a heavy shrinkage in stock after carrying it so many miles, cools the ardor of the producer very much. This, of course, would not apply so keenly if it referred to a new section, but the Dominion government steps in and says the line cannot be built as steel cannot be secured; perhaps it is more correct to say that the C.N.R. states that they cannot finish because they cannot procure steel. With nearly everyone met, the wonder is why they did not procure steel long ago, before they ran out of the funds brought to them by the action of the legislature, and in fact, not a few attach blame to the local authorities for not seeing that with assistance rendered, rails were first purchased. ment we cannot say, but that portion in Alberta has met with approval. From Oliver north and east the road is shown as "Under Construction" for a third of the distance, and one station, Pine Creek, has been named. We are given to understand that up to this station the iron has been put in position and the road could almost at once be put into operation.

From the portion shown "Under Construction" to St. Paul, the road, by the public to believe it was in hand, one way or the other, as it is connected. What is meant by the solid black line is not explained in the

What has been experienced in the establishment of this industry may be given as indicative of the hardship endured through lack of railway. Eight years ago, Mr. Godbout, having received definite word that the C.N.R. was coming to St. Paul, left Montreal for the Western village, his partner, Mr. Dubois, arriving together they went at it, procured the site, erected the mill, and ordered the machinery for a mill of fifty-five barrel capacity. It took one car to carry the boiler from Edmonton to Vegreville, for which freight was paid to the tune of $55. From Vegreville north to St. Paul the freight cost $300, though the distance is much shorter. It took six of the heavy teams of horses available in the neighborhood, and a large number of men, time consumed in the work being fifteen days.

Since this was written, the C.N.R. has practically passed into the hands of the Dominion government, but the views expressed still apply. Through the change, the people of the St. Paul de Metis district, as well as the Whitecourt district, now know just who to apply to for redress. The C.N.R. having no more interest in the road, it is up to the Dominion government to carry out the understanding of the C.N.R. with the local cabinet and the people.

A difficult thing to see what could have been done after the road was stolen; but there is no doubt that the legislature has been a victim of misplaced confidence. Had it been known that assistance rendered would not have been used as was looked for, different action would have been taken. Now they are "up against it." The assistance has been given and evidently used in other ways, and the looking for has not materialized. Steel has not been purchased and now the railway throws the blame on the Dominion government. Should the latter vote the further assistance the Company is asking, the settlers in the St. Paul de Metis district contend that every effort should be made to see that this line is completed.

Some ask if the non-completion of the road is because it and the line of the A. & G.W. run so close together, from Oliver to about Egremont. If this is the reason, it is fair that the territory east of Egremont should suffer because the south-west end is served more than it should be. The local government has met the wishes of the company in every respect. Approval of the plan filed has been accepted for one hundred miles from Oliver and they are ready to give similar approval for a further distance when the first section is in running order. From Oliver to St. Paul is about one hundred and twenty miles and of this nearly one hundred miles has been graded and about ready for the rails, but rails are not down, though the time limit was up July 31st, just past.

It would look as though the territory was being held by the C.N.R. so that no other company might get it—a sort of "what we have to have" policy, even though the people suffer.

By the small plan on this page, which is an exact reproduction of what is given in the C.N.R. time-table issue of June, 1917, it will be noticed that from Battleford north-west it is finished, and in operation for about a quarter of the distance; then projected to the north, and then to the west. Whether the latter has been filed and approved by the Saskatchewan government we cannot say, but that portion in Alberta has met with approval. From Oliver north and east the road is shown as "Under Construction" for a third of the distance, and one station, Pine Creek, has been named. been granted—the more recent one being at the last session when this clause was added to the motion of the company additional time, "shall in any event be completed and ready for traffic on or before the 31st of July, 1917." This was passed during the 1914-17 session.

Mr. Lessard, the member for the district, has, in and out of season, pressed for the completion of the road, cabinet, but they have been next to helpless, and now that the C.N.R. has fallen into the hands of the Dominion Government, the prospect does not that steel cannot be had, and that can be had in wanted for assistance in the great war struggle. This is strengthened by the tearing up of the rails on the line west of Edmonton. While this is so, the question arises as to why the rails on hand are not put down, and why sufficient steel was not procured before this date. The first may be answered by stating that the shortage of men is accountable for it. But why sufficient steel to complete the hundred miles was not obtained, the answer is not for us to say; but it does seem rather strange that the McArthur Company procured even more than is considered sufficient to iron the portion of the road bed they now have under construction, and which they are pushing forward with a view of completion this fall.

The portion of the G. W. road from Hwy east, which the McArthur people expect to complete this fall, will of course bring a certain amount of relief to St. Paul district, as the line will be but thirty miles from the village. This however is only partial relief, and does not solve the problem of the settlers going to the section line.

It will be noticed that the lines are not very far apart from Egremont on the C.N.R. and Bruderheim on the G. W. of the latter company, the experience of the latter company has led them to think that a line between the existing lines northeast to say Pine Creek, as shown on the regular time table map is too close for business purposes of which business they would obtain anyway from their regular line to Bruderheim. If so, what about carrying the line east from a point on the Athabasca branch to Pine Creek and then east to Turfville, through St. Paul. It would not cost a deal to this and the saving to the company might be a consideration. At any rate, they should not be relieved of their obligation to build to St. Paul and on. That they have let the A. & G. W. start the work on the line, the building of the Lac la Biche line, thus placing the two lines from Edmonton north so close, is no fault of the people. The company surely had their eyes open all along and should have been alive to not only their own interests but that of the people as well.

It is believed, that, for the time that the two lines have been under construction, a greater length of railway has been built by the McArthur people than the C.N.R. But, be that as it may, no rails have as yet been taken up on the former. In fact, they if rumors be correct, are to be down some even this season, while on the C.N.R. west of Edmonton they are being taken up to a considerable extent. Though the authorities are calling for a greater acreage of land, it can be no doubt that in the St. Paul de Metis section at any rate, such is not being encouraged as it should be by the same authorities. If it is advisable to put in as much as possible, why is it not seen to that there is a certainty of getting the grain out when threshed. The cry for more production appears all right with the farmers are not going to take the chance of having the yield lost through lack of transportation facilities. Given proper encouragement, such without saying the word, would raise a great deal more, and thus realize the wish of the authorities.

As stated at the opening, the C.N.R. has fallen into the hands of the Dominion government, so that the carrying out of obligations made by the company to the local government and the people now really falls upon the Dominion government. At any rate, the people now know who are responsible, and they should not be slow in taking action to force the matter at once. The attention of the Dominion authorities should be called to the unsatisfactory condition and the necessary relief asked for.

Regina, Aug. 10.—Plans now under way contemplating the formation of a non-partisan organization for Saskatchewan to bring out and elect non-connection candidates pledged to support a national government.

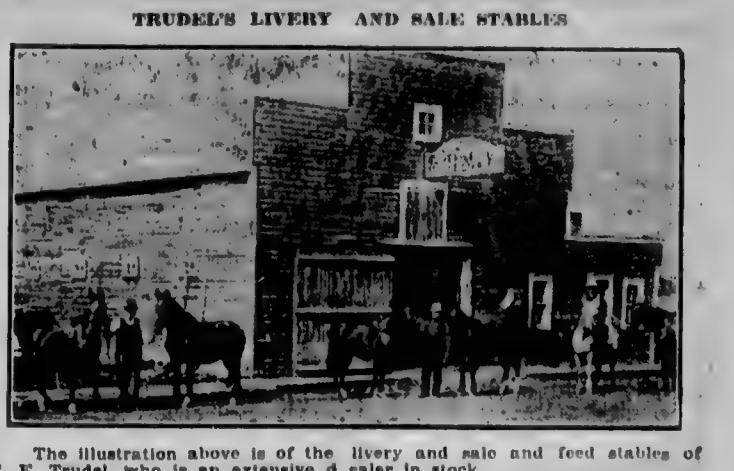

H. C. Smith, managing director of H. G. Smith Company, wholesale grocer of this city has started the ball rolling in an appeal to the independent citizen of Regina to sink party affiliations and to form an organization to elect a candidate who would support a national government. Since then the Army and Navy Veterans have passed a resolution regretting that conscription was not endorsed by the Liberal convention and praising the stand taken by J. G. Turill.

DRUMHELLER MINERS AGAIN
Calgary, Aug. 10.—Once more the coal mine labor trouble has started. The men of the Red Deer valley mine at Drumheller have gone out on strike, asking for the same rate of wage increase as compared to that schedule prevailing in other sections of the Alberta and British Columbia fields as they had formerly received.

the farmers. More and more it becomes apparent that the stock industry is the right thing for farmers to tackle, as there need be then no serious fear of frost or damaged grain, and so on, as grain, through freezing, though poor in grade generally makes as good for the building up of the cattle as the best. In addition, the farmer has two strings to his bow—the possibility of a high price for his grain and a top figure for his beef.

There may be others thinking of taking advantage of the benefits arising through this legislation, and in order that they may be aided, we again give synopsis of the Act as it passed the Alberta house.

Live Stock Encouragement Act.
Any five or more persons engaged in practical farming in the province may jointly apply to the Live Stock Commissioner for a loan not to exceed $500.00 each for the purpose of buying cows and heifers. Any person who has obtained a homestead entry under the provisions of The Dominion Lands Act is eligible as a member, and if he signs a note before he is of age the Act makes him liable the same as if he were of age at the time of signing.

The five or more signing the application are called an association.

The application shall be in writing and shall state the amount of the association desired for each purchaser and payment of the note and interest and then returns the note to the lender. Upon receipt of the joint and several note of all the members, guaranteed by the Province, the lender deposits in some chartered bank to the joint credit of the borrower and the Live Stock Commissioner the portion of the loan to which each member is entitled.

The borrower then goes out and buys a reasonable price and with the approval of the commissioner live stock of the kind mentioned in his application. The live stock so purchased shall be branded with a brand recorded in the name of the Department in the right of the province, and as the offering of such cows and heifers purchased under the provisions of the Act, and in like manner all the offspring of the female offspring of the same and in like manner any further offspring shall from time to time be branded with said brand.

As soon as the commissioner is satisfied that the provisions of the Act have been complied with he shall join with the purchaser in paying out by cheque from the bank account the purchase price of the stock so purchased.

No execution, distraint, attachment or garnishee shall be of any force or effect against any of the live stock purchased under the provisions of this Act or the offspring thereof, nor against the money which may be borrowed on the note guaranteed by the

Treasurer, nor against the proceeds of the sale of any such live stock or their offspring.

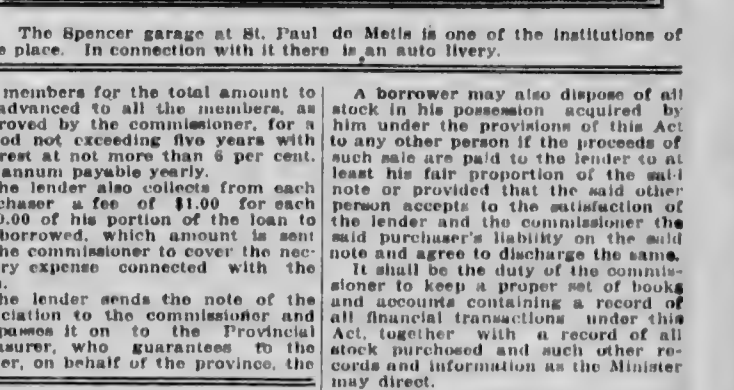

No purchaser shall part with the possession of, sell, mortgage, hypothecate or otherwise dispose of any of the live stock purchased or the offspring thereof until the note given by the association, together with all the interest thereon has been fully paid and satisfied; provided, however, that the borrower may sell any male offspring over two years of age, and he may also, with a consent in writing of the commissioner, sell any of the other live stock or the offspring and substitute other live stock approved by the commissioner or may apply the proceeds in payment of the joint note as the commissioner may direct.

The lender then takes from the association the joint and several note of the members for the total amount to be advanced to all the members, as approved by the commissioner, for a period not exceeding five years with interest at not more than 6 per cent. per annum payable yearly.

The lender also collects from each purchaser a fee of $1.00 for each $100.00 of his portion of the loan to be borrowed, which amount is sent to the commissioner to cover the necessary expense connected with the loan.

The lender sends the note of the association to the commissioner and he passes it on to the Provincial Treasurer, who guarantees to the lender, on behalf of the province, the

The Spencer garage at St. Paul de Metis is one of the institutions of the place. In connection with it there is an auto livery.

A borrower may also dispose of all stock in his possession acquired by him under the provisions of this Act to any other person if the proceeds of such sale are paid to the lender to at least his fair proportion of the said note or provided that the said other person accepts to the satisfaction of the lender and the commissioner the said purchaser's liability on the said note and agree to discharge the same. It shall be the duty of the commissioner to keep a proper set of books and accounts containing a record of all financial transactions under this Act, together with a record of all stock purchased and such other records and information as the Minister may direct.

In case the commissioner for any reason considers that the borrower is not properly caring for the stock purchased, or that he has violated the provisions of the Act, or if the borrower has made default in payment of his fair proportion of the note given by the association, or the interest thereon, he shall have the right and power to take possession of all the cattle belonging to the borrower acquired under the Act, including all offspring, and to dispose of same by private or public sale and to apply the net proceeds in payment or part payment of the said note, and if said proceeds do not amount to sufficient to pay the said borrower's fair proportion of said note the commissioner may bring action against the borrower for the balance of his fair proportion of said note or for such larger amount, not exceeding the amount of said note, as he considers advisable, and may recover judgment for same. If, however, the borrower has paid his fair proportion of said note the commissioner shall, if possible, collect his fair proportion from each of the other borrowers who have not paid their fair proportions. Failing to this collect, the commissioner may take possession of any cattle of any borrower acquired under the Act and may sell and dispose of same, or a sufficient portion thereof to pay the balance of the said note, provided that he shall, as far as possible, collect from each his fair proportion of debt.

Buy your car as you would buy your home

LOOK at the buying of your car as you would look at the buying of your home. You can find a house at almost any price you would care to pay. But there are certain necessities you must have if that house is to be a home. You wouldn't, for example, try to get along in tiny, cramped up, uncomfortable rooms. Neither would you live in a house with cheap plumbing, inferior woodwork, ill-fitting doors and rattling windows.

Without going into luxuries, there are certain necessities you must have to justify your calling your house a home—a place you will be proud to own.

It is the same with your car. It must have a certain amount of size, roominess and wheel-base to make it really comfortable and free you from the need of constant apologies. It must have materials of a certain quality to insure its lasting the proper time to justify your investment in it. It must have the proper weight to make it hold the road. It must seat all its passengers in comfort.

You wouldn't buy a house that lacked the real necessities because it cost a few dollars less. Even so it is false economy to buy a car that lacks the essentials of motoring satisfaction because it is cheap to buy.

In the Series 18 Studebaker Cars you get all the needed essentials of complete motoring satisfaction at the lowest possible price.

When you realize that Studebaker, one of the largest producers of cars in the world, enjoying all the economies of great production and great resources, makes a smaller percentage of profit per car than the small car manufacturers, it is obvious that Studebaker includes in its cars those features that small cars must curtail; and quality, both of material and workmanship, that you cannot reasonably expect to find in small cars at their prices.

What is a small initial saving compared to a great sacrifice? Be wise—before you decide what car to buy see the Studebaker.

Nearly every automobile manufacturer has made an increase in prices, but Studebaker prices still remain the same as they were last Spring. This further increases the value of Studebaker cars in comparison with all others.

The increased cost of materials and labor may force Studebaker to make an advance in prices at any time without notice.

In the World of Labor

ALTHOUGH discussion of the matter at the Trades and Labor council started with a motion that a local representative should not be sent to the Trades and Labor Congress, it was more or less in the light of a "feeler" and it revealed a strong body of opinion that the local unions should be represented at this, the most important labor gathering in the city, owing to the demand for mechanics, which has kept members in good standing, are in an excellent financial position, and it seems but natural that they should help in this matter, which is rather outside the lines of ordinary business. All labor men unite in the supposition that Congress will be more than unusually important this year, on account of conscription and other proposals, which will occupy their attention, so there is every reason that the opinions and wishes of local men should be voiced. Under the circumstances, the special committee appointed to interview the local men to ascertain if they are willing to contribute to the cost should have little difficulty in raising the money.

THE need for a stronger and more comprehensive workmen's compensation act in the province of Alberta, was strongly impressed by J. Davis, an official of the Railroad Carriers' union, who was on a visit to the city and attended the meeting of the Labor Council. He said that any compensation to be now obtained was hopelessly inadequate, and asked all labor men to make a special effort to obtain the introduction of a new act in the province. Delegates to Council were considerably agitated over the increase of food prices and the general cost of living. Allegations were made to the effect that all sources of supply were being cornered by the dairy companies and the packing houses, yet no definite line of action to combat these alleged influences on high prices was resolved upon. The general line of thought seems to be that some inquiry should be instituted by the municipal authorities. Although these local inquiries do not seem to have yielded much result in other places, yet it is open to the Trades Council to press the request on the city authorities for such an inquiry.

A agreement has been entered into between the builders' exchange and the carpenters' union of Winnipeg, under which the rate of pay will be raised five cents per hour, making the minimum 55 cents per hour. The carpenters were particularly in the general building strikes, which commenced about six weeks ago. At that time they demanded a ten cent increase, but a week ago decided to return to work, leaving the wage adjustment to a mutual understanding between the representatives of the two bodies.

THAT the big confederation of civic employees at Calgary will embrace all branches of the city departments and become a powerful factor in municipal affairs hereafter, is evidenced by the fact that the first organization work of the big union is already completed and the individual branches of the civic service are now completing their organization. The confederation consists of separate units for each department, and each branch of each department, but these units, in some instances small in number, are bound to the general organization by a system of confederation which secures for them the backing of the giant union of all employees. In case of a demand by one of these units, upon the city fathers, the question will first have to be submitted to the executive board of the confederation, and if it then appears just, it will be endorsed and receive the support of all the employees.

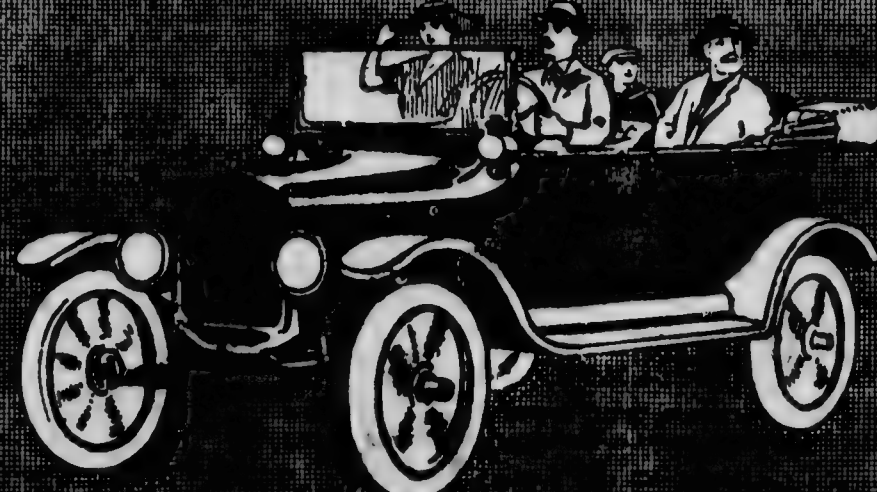

Edmonton has already a number of the city departments organized, for instance the street railway employees, the firemen and the civic laborers. Organization of the employees in the central administration and the clerical help in the different utilities commenced some time ago, but of that little has been heard of its progress.

The wages of the employees of the Calgary city paving plant will now be increased 2 1/2 cents per hour, according to a recommendation from the commissioners which was passed by council. The employees will now receive 55 cents per hour.

Organized labor in Canada is not opposed to conscription so long as there is no discrimination, and labor men engaged in the transportation business of Canada are ready for the military bills to be put into effect. This was the striking utterance of Senator Robertson, labor representative in the senate, appointed by Sir Robert Borden after he had averred the threatened tie-ups of Canadian railroads during last winter. He resented the contention of Senator Roche, Hamburg-American Steamship Line agent, that labor opposed conscription. "When necessity arises," he said, "and the imperative need asserts itself, labor will rise equal to the occasion. Organized labor in the United States was opposed to conscription before the war. It now heartily supports the policy. Our Canadian unions are international. We are prepared to follow in Canada the course of labor in the United States. I speak particularly for the men in the transportation business. I have received many protests in letters and verbally, asking that steps be taken to correct the impression that labor is opposed to the principle of this bill." Senator Robertson conceded that labor had grannies, particularly those persons engaged in munitions making. "The

Yet, on the whole, the 66th had a middler fate than most other units, denied on active service as such, and

When the attacking parties had advanced to the capture of Fabek Gaben, which was being strongly defended by the enemy. It was a difficult trench to take, as the men had to go forward in an oblique fashion. The center was held up by heavy fire, and Captain Jack Harstone, also of Edmonton, rushed his company, Kerr amongst them, to fill the gap—literally, a reinforcement. Fabek Gaben was taken, but the taking was not complete. The enemy, in unknown strength, retained possession of a stretch of 200 yards, where he was sandwiched in between different portions of the Canadian force. His hold ber of Germans that crowded the trench, but this thought did not enter his mind. He had only one idea—two bombs with him, and after making excellent use of them, he next opened fire with his rifle. This arm, however, had become clogged with mud, and he was unable to use it. His bombs expended, his rifle rendered useless, and his wounds smarting, Kerr remained in position at the trench until he had exhausted the use of his bombs. Not content with this important role, he seized the rifle of Frank Long, the second bayonet man, and severely punished the enemy to his own harm. He refused to bear charmed existence, as although he was in full view, the wild arm and erratic shooting of the

But sixty others behind him, in a trench amply provided with many death-dealing weapons.

Wounded But Brave.

Yet, there stood wounded Kerr, with blood flowing freely from his hand, and a stain on his tunic. He had no thought of his glorious deed—an achievement surely that should prove a fitting subject for the brush of the best living artist. He had to keep a lynx eye on the wily crowd

They followed the pointed instructions of their captor and made their submissive way down a communication trench into a benevolent captivity, while John Chipman Kerr presided over the operation. Kerr proceeded to the base and across the channel to England, oblivious of the fact that he had been recommended for the V. C.
